Bus Line Improvements Due In DC Sept. 1

S. C. Prisoners' Clothing Found

Clothing belonging to the four Santa Clara county jail prisoners who escaped on July 2 was found the following Friday behind a Daly City gas station, it was learned last week.

Two of the escapees, David Plenzler, 24, and James Hildebrand, 23, were reported jailed in Washington, D. C. when they were caught trying to hold up a gas station there over the weekend.

The other two, Walter Jerold Blakely, 24, and Kenneth George Knorr, 21, are still at large.

The clothing was discovered Friday morning, July 6, by Richard E. Delgado, of 537 Rutland avenue, San Francisco, behind the Standard gas station at Alemany and Lake Merced boulevard.

Delgado told Officer Lester Bastedo of the Daly City police department that he found the clothing—two pairs of blue jeans, blue work shirts, sox, underwear and a pair of buckskin work shoes—while he was cleaning up on the outside of the station.

Officer Bastedo reported that the work shirts and underwear had "County Jail" imprinted on them in black lettering.

The officer also reported that further investigation disclosed that the clothes had been there for four days according to an unidentified source who said he did not pay any attention to them because he thought it belonged to a sailor.

The clothing was picked up by Detective Philip LaBruzzo of the Detective Division who called the sheriff's office in Santa Clara county. It was subsequently identified by Detective Morrow.

Youth Sentenced In Weekend Raid

A Belmont youth arrested early Sunday in a Pacifica marathon beer party was sentenced to 89 days in jail Monday by Judge Charles Becker.

The youth, Barry D. McVeigh, 21, of 1010 Hiller street, Belmont, was one of three youths arrested after a raid on a party that began Friday night, Pacifica police said, after Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence J. Brewer left on an out-of-town trip leaving their 17-year-old son, Frank, at their home at 62 Manor drive.

More than 24 hours later, after neighbors complained that the wild party was still going on, four Pacifica policemen, covering both front and rear entrances to the house, made the arrests.

Besides McVeigh, arrested were Robert W. Rinaldo of 171 Clarendon road, Pacifica, who elbowed one of the officers in the stomach, and the host, Frank Brewer, charged with possession of beer as a minor.

Fictitious Checks Net Two Arrests

A trail of rubber checks finally caught up with two partners in crime last week.

Arrested for no-account checks were George Edgar McCullah, on one count, and Gary Bernard Hammond, on five counts. Hammond also was charged with possession of an illegal weapon.

The trail began Friday, July 6, when Hammond entered a market and cashed a $14.92 check for liquor and groceries.

On Saturday, Hammond again entered the store, purchasing $15.66 worth of liquor on another check.

Approximately five to ten minutes later, McCullah entered the store attempting to purchase merchandise worth $45.28 on another check.

While his identification was being checked, McCullah fled from the market but was picked up by Daly City police and taken into custody.

After McCullah's arrest, Hammond's two checks for $15.66 and $14.92 bounced.

Pacifica Woman Pleads Not Guilty

A 48-year-old Pacifica woman who shot her common-law husband a week and a half ago pleaded not guilty last week to being charged with assault with intent to commit murder.

The woman, Ethel Claire Mobley, wounded her husband, Orland, with a shotgun after, she said, she trailed him to an unidentified woman's apartment and did not see him leave until 35 minutes later. The shooting incident occurred on Saturday, July 7, almost a week after she said her husband visited the woman on Sunday.

GROUNDBREAKING — As graders worked in the background, ceremonies were held Thursday, July 12, to kick off the development of the new St. Francis Square Shopping Center at St. Francis Boulevard and Southgate Avenue in Daly City. From left are Councilman Edward Dennis, Miss Daly City, Nancy Angelot; Councilman Frank Pacelli, architect David J. Tirrell of Wurster, Bernardi and Emmons, architects, and Graeme K. Macdonald, president of Macdonald, Young & Nelson, Inc., general contractors.

DC Needs Industry Says C Of C Planner

Daly City's "pay-as-you-go" government means built-in tax raises if the city does not acquire industrial lands, according to Frank Martorana, executive chairman of the Daly City-Colma Chamber of Commerce committee on planning.

"It is common knowledge that industry improves the tax base," Martorana said.

He added that the Stanford Research Institute has stated that cities that are predominately single-family dwelling, such as Daly City, have the highest tax rate. This is due to the long range replacement of capital improvements and the amount of services rendered.

Martorana pointed out the recent intended hike in the Daly City water rates and predicted hike in city tax rate, are indications of the trend toward higher government costs.

"We can't pay as you go without other assistance," he stated.

In order for Daly City to stay financially above water, Martorana says Daly City should:

(1) Annex a corridor of land of some kind — going to San Francisco Bay — to give the city a port and a location for semi- and heavy-industry.

(2) Invoke a master plan

Cooperation Asked On Abandoned Cars

A plea to Daly City residents to help lessen the number of abandoned cars on the city's streets was made Monday by the police department.

Sgt. Henry Sundermann said that the police department is conducting a survey of abandoned cars on the streets of Daly City and has found many cars left for one and two months in their original parking spaces. These cars, he said become a health and traffic menace because garbage accumulates around these automobiles, making it difficult to clean the city's streets. Also, he continued, they constitute a traffic menace because many have flat tires and other defects.

Section 1222A of the Municipal Code, the sergeant stated, forbids an automobile to be parked for more than 120 consecutive hours in a parking space. After that, he said, citations will be issued and the cars will be impounded.

Sergeant Sundermann asked that Daly City residents keep their cars in their garages if possible or to move their vehicles before the 120-hour limit. Keeping their cars in their garages at night will prevent malicious mischief and petty thefts from occurring, he said.

The sergeant described the situation as not bad when compered to other cities but said that the survey is to prevent it from getting worse.

Fifteen cars have been impounded since the beginning of this month.

Board To Ask $850,000 Grant For FDR School

A motion that the Jefferson Elementary School District ask the State Department of Finance for $850,000 for the construction of Franklin Delano Roosevelt School was approved Monday night by the Board of Trustees at its regular meeting.

In other action, the board:

Better Schedule For Transit Line

A much improved Northgate Transit bus lines schedule will go into effect in Daly City about September 1, due to the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce and City of Daly City.

Chamber president Frank Curry's drive for better service, led by city councilman Micheal DeBernardi, will include the following improvements:

Bus Zones

(1) Designated bus zones will be marked in residential areas. Lines will be painted out from curbs. In residential areas, no parking tickets will be issued for residents parking on the zones in front of their particular homes. Buses will then have to pull to the front or back of these designated zones. But in commercial zones, local police will ticket and can tow away vehicles parked in marked bus zones, Curry said.

Bus Schedules

(2) Buses will run on schedule at 20 minute intervals, thus improving a system that was often erratics. Residents will be mailed bus schedules with their water bills.

Inspections

(3) Buses are to run under the authority of the Public Utilities Commission and will be required to be inspected for mechanical condition every month.

(4) Drivers will be required to be finger-printed and licensed by the City of Daly City.

The main improvements, said Curry, will be that bus zones will now be designated and the buses will run on schedule.

Passengers will not be let off at "just any place" like was sometimes the case in times past, he added.

Curry said bus drivers will be asked to wear the same type of uniform. The practice of wearing various uniforms is being discouraged.

The Northgate Transit Lines, he added, has also agreed to "police" its buses for cleanliness.

$13,000 Fire Ruins Home

A fire that started just after a Daly City family had left for a Russian river outing all but destroyed their first home Saturday morning causing an estimated $13,000 damage.

John Revetria, 27, and his wife, Joanne, 23, and their two children returned to find their home at 848 Templeton street a water-soaked mass of sooty walls, shattered windows and seared furniture.

The fire, its cause as yet undetermined, was discovered by their neighbor, George Perez, of 854 Templeton street, at 10:13 a.m. He suffered a slight cut when he broke the kitchen window and rescued the family's pet dog.

Volunteer fireman Joe Boux was rescued from the roof by Captain George DeBono after he passed out from smoke inhalation. Two other firemen, Charles Christian and Richard Merlo, suffered burns about the face and ears.

Captain Allen Brush estimated the fire caused $10,000 damage to the house and $3000 to the contents.

Captain Keith Schrock said the fire, which started in the rear bedroom of the five-room stucco house, was within control after ten minutes but that complete overhaul and extinguishment took approximately 45 minutes.

Damage to the two adjacent houses was minor.

Woman Attempts Walk To Hawaii

A 35-year-old Daly City woman threatened to walk to Hawaii Saturday night but fishermen in the Sharp Park area at the foot of Santa Maria avenue weren't quite convinced she could make it.

The woman, Virginia Sayre, of 1107-87th street, made several attempts to walk into the surf but each time was caught by the fishermen before she could demonstrate her technique.

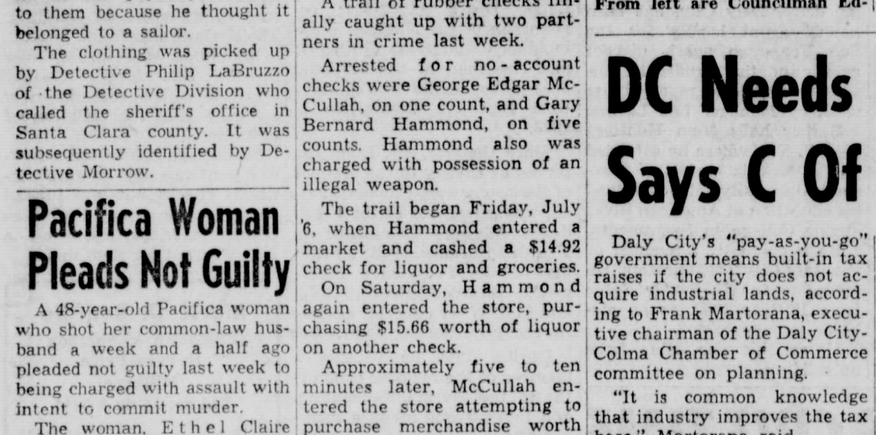
Pacifica police said the woman admitted she had been drinking and sent her to Community hospital.

Thomas Callan, Jr., Trial Gets Under Way

The trial of Thomas J. Callan, Jr., son of the former supervisor, and Sergie Gregoriev on multiple counts involving an alleged land swindle started in Superior Court in Redwood City last Monday morning.

The trial, not being held before a jury, is expected to take a week.

The defendants are accused of conspiring to acquire 20 tax delinquent lots on the Coastside by forging false deeds and paying up back taxes. Gregoriev is a former teacher at Carlmont High School. Callan is accused of 24 felony counts and Gregoriev is charged with 40.



FOOD AND REFRESHMENTS were good and plentiful at the Westborough picnic. Caterers put on complete picnic spread. Kids came back for seconds—and thirds.

WESTBOROUGH GROWING FAST

Families are moving into Westborough at the rate of eight a week since the first family took occupancy last May.

The 659-acre, $150,000,000 community in the North Peninsula hills, is one of the most ambitious developments in the West. Grading alone will eventually involve the movement of 15,000,000 cubic yards of earth.

Westborough came alive last week as the first 40 families met at a "get-acquainted" party hosted by the developers.

First item on the informal agenda was the election of a "mayor." He is John Lockhart, San Francisco restaurant man and one of the first families to move into the community, which will one day accommodate a population of 18,000 people.

As a fitting symbol of his unofficial title, Lockhart received a "PTA-size" coffee urn, to be available for all community gatherings. Presentation was made by Louis Armanino, manager of South San Francisco's QFI store, who also presented gifts to the 40 housewives attending the party.

Gifts from the hosts included potted plants for each home.

Two families—the oldest and newest residents of Westborough—were given special honor by the crowd of 150 homeowners. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pizzo and son, Michael, moved into their new home on May 2 to become the community's "pioneers"

The family of Dr. W. A. Marsden, San Bruno veterinarian, received a special welcome. They had completed unpacking their belongings in their new home just in time to attend the party.

The Marsdens were pressed for "newest resident" honors by Conrad Carpenter and his family. Carpenter, former San Bruno resident, is executive vice-president of U. S. Title and Guaranty Co., the firm handling Westborough's title insurance.

The "first families" picnic dinner proved so successful

City Adds New Water Reservoir

The City of Daly City currently has under construction a new reservoir which will contain 500,000 gallons of water and will have a diameter of 59 feet and a height of 25 feet.

This new tank being built in the Southern Hills subdivision will bring the City's total storage capacity up to 7,800,000 gallons, representing a figure of over 550 gallons of water storage for every water service within Daly City.

The tank is being constructed by Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel Company at an approximate cost of $25,000.

It is located on a lofty perch carved out of solid rock by grading contractor Arthur Haskins and is overlooking San Francisco's Cow Palace.

BEAUTY IN ABUNDANCE — Twelve of San Mateo County's prettiest girls pose at the Fairgrounds to call attention to the 28th annual San Mateo County Fair and Fiesta, August 3 to 11. Beauties will compete July 19 for the title of Fiesta Dream Girl and winner will reign over the festivities. Pictured in front are Bonnie Borsen (left) of Belmont and Joan White of San Mateo. Others (left to right) are Nanette Hooper, San Carlos; Carol Ann Maraccini, San Bruno; Noelle Russo, Burlingame; Elizabeth Fry, Menlo-Atherton; Virginia Schloegel, Pacifica; Nancy Bell, Brisbane; Phyllis Terra, Half Moon Bay; Dolly Schumacher, South San Francisco; Barbara Braun, Millbrae, and Nancy Angelot, Daly City. Judy Allison, Miss Redwood City, was not available for picture.

QFI To Present New Auto At County Fair

Quality Foods, Inc., will add a new and interesting feature to the 28th annual San Mateo County Fair and Floral Fiesta, August 3-11, with the presentation of a new automobile to a lucky fair visitor on the final day of the nine-day show.

John E. Musso, president of QFI, announced his firm's participation in the 1962 fiesta.

"We are proud to be affiliated with the fair and to show our support in this manner," Musso said. "We have added a feature that should please the winner by offering a choice between a sports model Falcon Futura or a Falcon family station wagon. Winner of the drawing may take his pick."

Both the station wagon and the Futura will be on display during the fiesta in the Twin Industrial building.

Tickets for the drawing may be obtained upon request at the San Mateo and South San Francisco QFI stores. The contest is limited to persons over 18 years of age.

All School Districts Must Obtain Insurance

All school districts must obtain insurance against hazards to which school property is exposed and for which insurance is available, ruled Attorney General Stanley Mosk last week. Insurance may be obtained against vandalism.

"A deductible form of insurance may be obtained by those districts with an average daily attendance of fifty thousand or more," states the opinion, "and the deductable coverage may in the board's discretion apply to some or all of the perils to the school property which are covered in the usual fire insurance policy applicable to that type of property, including perils of pysical damage to that type of property other than those defined as 'fire insurance' by the Insurance Code."

Request for the opinion was made by County Counsel Robert M. Walsh of Fresno County. School districts of the county are negotiating to obtain insurance which includes a deductible type of coverage for certain risks, including vandalism.

The opinion was prepared by Deputy Attorney General C. Barlow Goff of Sacramento.

VA Awards Bid To Petrini Corp.

Award of bid for an addition to the San Francisco Veterans Administration Hospital and for consolidation of the Regional Office Clinic has been made to the Perini Corp. of San Francisco at a cost of $4,280,000, it was announced last week by Dr. Thomas P. Crane, Director of the San Francisco VA Hospital.

Work will include alterations to two buildings totaling 147,300 sq. ft. gross area; partial air conditioning, heating, ventilating, plumbing and electrical work, as well as tile flooring, acoustical ceilings, laboratory, clinic and sterilizing equipment, three electrical elevators and surgical service systems and equipment.

New Colma Resident

A daughter, Julie Lynn, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Reihsen, 1032 Gillman drive, Colma, July 10 at the Kaiser Hospital.

The baby weighed eight pounds, two ounces.

Everything From "Gators" To Guppies At Local Pet Shops

By Jack Wood

Westlake Pet Shop owner Leo Vanlogher remembers the time a woman came into his shop and asked for "meat for my baby."

When he asked "what baby? the woman pointed behind her. She was leading a three-foot alligator on a leash.

Unusual requests are the stock in trade for pet shop owners.

One woman, Vanlogher related, came into the store with a heavy red fur neckpiece around her neck. She requested some fresh meat for her pet. Her "neckpiece" was a live Red Fox.

Vanlogher operates an attractive shop at 177 Southgate near the Westlake Library. A native of Holland, he started in the business following World War II. His store is stocked with a variety of "home cure" medicines for pets' plus a large stock of pet foods.

In the Daly City pet shop at 6261 Mission street, Mrs. Rita Piperio often handles requests for baby boa constrictors.

"They grow up to be real nice pets," she said sweetly.

"They're easy to handle," she added, and "there are pet shops that has boas loose in the shop."

Mrs. Piperio says a love of animals and of children is essential for pet shop work. Intensely interested in her animals, she related some of her most unusual types.

"I sold a Tigu from South America."

"It's a big lizard about three feet long and very friendly. You can handle them . . . . and he could jump!" "We would let him loose most of the time and he wandered the shop."

"We were wondering about his intelligence. He knew me and other persons in the shop.

But if a stranger handled him he'd get excited. He'd wiggle and try to get away."

"We get alot of requests for skunks. And we have a very lovely Basalisk lizard. It makes a very good pet."

Besides lizards, she also sells baby alligators. Her hobby is raising show puppies and she has won several awards for her show Chinese pugs.

Mrs. Piperio worked in a veterinery hospital for eight years and entered the pet shop business after expanding her hobby of raising show puppies.

LIKES PETS — Rita Piperio, owner of Daly Citp Pet Shop at 6261 Mission, shown with some of her clientelle, a monkey and a parrot. Mrs. Piperio entered the business through her hobby of raising show puppies.

DOG GROOMING — Virginia Hull, dog groomer for the Westlake Pet Shop, 177 Southgate avenue, trims a black poodle. Virginia said her most unusual request from a customer was to trim a guinea pig's toenails.

DC Man Named District Agent For Prudential

Charles A. Barber, 146 Avalon drive, Daly City, has been named agent locally for the San Francisco south district agency of the Prudential Insurance co., it was reported last week by Manager Lou Lavine.

Barber hails from Huntington, W. Va., where he attended public schools and the Marshall University. He continued his education at American River Junior College in Sacramento.

He is currently a member of the Daly City Toastmasters. He served in the U. S. Air Force from 1957 to 1962, as an airborne radar operator.

He and his wife, Nina, have no children.

that is recognized by state and federal authority to qualify this area for more federal, state and county funds—to be spent here.

Martorana said that industrial lands are badly needed in Daly City at this very moment in view of the fact that the proposed Junipero Serra Freeway will be causing the loss of certain industries and businesses.

"We are completely unbalanced," he said. "What this city needs is direction in its expansion. It cannot be by hodge podge annexing."

Martorana stated that "with proper direction and laws, areas can be annexed that will provide industrial growth with a more balanced tax base and more jobs."

SJS To Present 2 Summer Plays

The Speech and Drama department of San Jose State College will present two plays in the current Summer Festival of Arts program.

"Papa Is All," Patterson Greene's three-act comedy of the Pennsylvania Dutch country, will be seen the nights of July 19, 20, and 21 in the Studio Theatre on campus.

Production of William Shakespeare's "Merry Wives of Windsor" will follow on July 26, 27, and 28 in the College Theatre. Curtain is 8:15 p.m.

"Papa Is All" will be staged in the round under the direction of George Z. Wilson of Hayward, visiting summer session drama staff member.

Leads will be taken by Ross Bergantz as Papa, the domineering father who rules his family and farm with an iron rod, by Mary Kessler, who plays his wistfully meek wife, by Janet Loscito and Steve Trinwith, who play Emma and Jake, respectively, the young daughter and son who rebel against Papa when he opposes Emma's love affair.

Donald Luce as State Trooper, and Carla Mathis as Mrs. Yoder play supporting roles.

Costumes are the design of Joseph Markham. Staging is being handled by the summer class in play production under the stage managership of Ray Heidt.

New Head At San Francisco State

Dr. Paul Albert Dodd, who has been living in Paris after serving on special assignment with the Turkish government as consultant for the Middle East Technical University in Ankara, assumed the presidency of San Francisco State College this month. Dr. Dodd was named to the post in April by Dr. Glenn Dumke, chancellor of the California State College system.

The new official entered the office, which was filled by Dr. Frank L. Fenton, who has been the acting president since November, 1961, when Dr. Dumke left San Francisco State College for the chancellor's office. Dr. Dodd was dean of the College of Letters and Sciences at the University of California at Los Angeles previous to his overseas mission.

Dr. Dodd, born in Greenwood, Mo., July 26, 1902, was graduated cum laude in 1924 from Park College in Parksville, Mo., near Kansas City. He was first an instructor in the high school at Waterman, Ill., and in 1927 joined the staff at the University of Pennsylvania. Here, in 1932, Dr. Dodd was granted his Ph.D.

Teaching Background

He moved to the West in 1928 to join the teaching staff of the University of California as an associate in economics.

He has served in the economics department as lecturer (1932-33); assistant professor (1933-39); associate professor (1939-45) and in 1945 was made a full professor.

In 1946 he went to the University of California at Los Angeles as its dean of the College of Letters and Science, where he resigned in 1961.

Arbitrator

During his career, Dr. Dodd became particularly noted for his service in mediating various industrial disputes. He entered public affairs when he served as director over a survey of California's medico-economic conditions from 1934 to 1939.

Other posts include: Federal Maritime arbitrator for Southern California (1935-39); director in the study of problems of the extra player in the motion picture industry (1939-40); a member of the governor's committee on health insurance (1939-40); a Rockefeller Foundation fellow to Australia (1940-41); an associate member of the National War Labor Board (1942-45); the vice chairman of the 10th Regional War Labor Board (1942-43); co-chairman of the National Shipbuilding Commission (1943-44); and chairman of the National War Labor Board of the Wartime Incentive Committee in 1943.

Since the war, Dr. Dodd has served as adviser to the premier of Saskatchewan, Canada, 1945-46; was a member of the President's Advisory Committee on Health Insurance, 1946; a member of the President's Emergency Railroad Board, 1947; and in 1947 was special adviser to the governor of California.

During 1948 he became a member of the regional committee of the Markle Foundation, and in 1950 was made a member on the committee on faculty fellowships with the Fund for the Advancement of Education of the Ford Foundation.

Dr. Dodd was made a member of the executive committee for the Western College Association in 1951 and served on its program planning in 1952 and 1953. He was awarded a fellowship to the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Among Dr. Dodd's numerous publications are "Financial Policies in the Aviation Industry," 1933; "California Medico-Economic Survey," 1937; "Management of Labor Relations," 1938; "Economic Aspects of Medical Services," 1939; "Labor Problems," 1940; "The Management of Personnel and Labor Relations," 1950.

- Accepted a gift of $100 from the PTA of the Woodrow Wilson School to be used in the establishment of the library at the school.
- Accepted the work done on sidewalks adjacent to tennis courts at the Ben Franklin School as complete.
- Discussed a proposal on the expansion of the Woodrow Wilson School.
- Discussed a proposal for the establishment of a library at the Garden Village School.

The board met last night in an open meeting on the budget.

Fictitious Checks

On Monday morning, Daly City detectives Philip LaBruzzo and C. L. Terry received a tip that Hammond was at 74 Whittier street with a loaded shotgun. The two detectives also were told that Hammond was involved in passing fictitious checks at the market with McCullah.

Responding to the tip, the detectives spoke to Sally Quinlan at the Whitter street address, who implied that Hammond had left. Detective Terry, however, located him on the roof of an adjacent building. The shotgun was found later.

Hammond was turned over to the San Mateo County sheriff's office and is now awaiting trial for violation of probation.

McCullagh has served a five-day sentence for passing fictitious checks but was turned over to the San Francisco County sheriff's office on a 1958 warrant for auto theft.

COUNTY VOLUNTEERS GIVE TIME TO HEALTH, WELFARE AGENCIES

Year by year, San Mateo County volunteers are giving more of their time to health, welfare and recreational agencies while an increasing number of agencies are using more volunteer help.

James E. Fitzgerald, president of the board of directors of the Volunteer Bureau of San Mateo County, writing in the bureau's annual report which has just been released, stated that in 1961, 1,383 volunteers gave over 61,259 hours, 10,000 more than the previous year.

Agencies requesting volunteer help totaled 85 as compared with 67 the previous year. The 1961 total of volunteers, Mr. Fitzgerald added, varied little from that of 1960, because of more selective interviewing and more efficient use of volunteers by agencies.

Further figures indicate that since the establishment of the bureau in 1953, a total of 8,328 volunteers donated 243,352 work hours to the agencies. The bureau, a United Crusade agency, sponsored by the Assistance League, serves as the official recruitment and referral center for volunteers throughout this country.

New services of the bureau in 1961 were also cited in the report. They included assisting in the presentation for the welfare of the community a Board Member Institute with the cooperation of the College of San Mateo Extended Day Division, Assistance League of San Mateo County, Community Council of San Mateo County, the Junior League of San Francisco, Inc., San Mateo Unit, the National Council of Catholic Women and the National Council of Jewish Women.

In addition, the bureau, branching into cultural-educational fields, aided in the organization of an auxiliary to the San Mateo County Historical Society, at the request of the chief probation officer of San Mateo County in the formulation of a pilot exploratory program for the possible use of volunteers at Hillcrest Juvenile Hall, and in the servicing of coastside Well-Baby Clinics of the Department of Health and Welfare.

The past year saw honor accorded the work of the Friendly Visiting Service, a project of the Assistance League in cooperation with the Department of Public Health and Welfare and the Volunteer Bureau, which was granted national recognition in the magazine, "The Modern Hospital," published in Chicago. The bureau's executive director, Miss Margaret Ruettell, and western representative of the National Association of Volunteer Bureaus, served as consultant in the establishment of new bureaus in California and Oregon and as speaker before a number of organizations.

Shakespeare Play Is Entertaining

Those who did attend the opening night performance — and the following Saturday evening performance — have found the Marin Shakespeare Festival production of "Twelfth Night" a most delightful way in which to spend a summer evening.

The play: "Twelfth Night," the date, Friday, July 20 and Saturday, July 21; the time, 8:30 p. m. curtain; the place, Marin Art and Garden Center, Ross, Calif.

Junior Exhibitors Ready For Fair

Junior division exhibitors from all over California are putting the finishing touches on their projects for the year in preparation for the 1962 California State Fair, August 29 through September 9.

Exhibits from 4-H and FFA members will include classes of beef, dairy, sheep and swine as well as entries in farm mechanics, home economics, feature booths, horticulture and showmanship. Prize money at this year's fair for winning livestock and exhibits in the Junior division show totals over $48,000, according to Clarence Azevedo, Sacramento, director of the Junior livestock division.

FFA and 4-H club exhibitors will show for the first four days of the fair and will wrap up their activities with the annual fat stock auction on Thursday, August 30, along with special award presentations.

The Virginia opossum was introduced to the eastern regions of the San Francisco Bay area in 1900.

Welcome Home, Guardsmen

With some 66,000 Army and Air National Guardsmen coming off active duty in the weeks ahead, it is appropriate that we now take stock of the truly remarkable job that these citizen-soldiers have accomplished since their call-up last October for the Berlin crisis.

Perhaps the most significant accomplishment of the call-up was voiced by Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington when he said: "This is the first time that a President has been able to use the military power presented by our reserve program to achieve a foreign policy objective."

What this means is that for the first time in our history, our reserve forces were at a high enough level of readiness to represent an immediate show of force when they were called to active duty.

No amount of publicity over the so-called "gripes" during the early stages of the mobilization can overshadow this fact.

The highlight of the Air Guard mobilization was the greatest overseas deployment of jet fighters in our history. Within one month of their recall last October 1, combat-ready pilots of the Air Guard flew more than 200 jets from their home communities to bases in Europe and immediately began operations.

This was an unprecedented accomplishment and certainly establishes the Air Guard claim of being a "ready now" organization.

In the Army National Guard, two combat divisions—the 32nd Infantry of Wisconsin and the 49th Armored of Texas—were called to active duty and declared completely combat-ready after only three months of actual training. And on February 15, both divisions were assigned to the Army's elite, fast-moving Strategic Army Corps. This allowed the immediate movement of 40,000 active Army troops overseas.

When you stop to consider that it would have taken the active Army and Air Force at least a year to build comparable forces from scratch, you begin to get an idea of the importance of this call-up.

What are the conclusions that we can draw from the events of the past year?

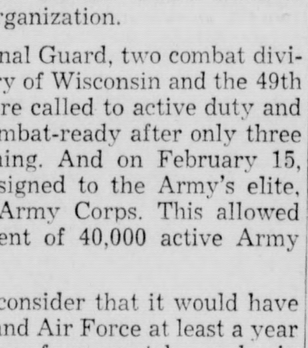
First, it has become apparent that the National Guard system is able to adapt itself to the changing requirements of 20th century warfare and contribute significantly to our overall defense structure.

Second, in spite of some early complaints last fall, the individual Guardsman responded magnificently. In the face of obvious hardships, they were anxious to get on with the job of whipping their units into shape.

And finally, this mobilization should be a lesson to us all that the only way to prevent a war is to let the enemy know we are prepared to fight one if necessary.

Retardation Prevented By Test, Treatment

A type of severe mental retardation, one that results from the medical condition called phenylketonuria (PKU), now can be prevented.



PKU is a relatively rare condition—it occurs in about 1 in 20,000 births. It's caused by an inborn, inherited error of metabolism. But it is severe, and if left untreated, it will lead to such extreme retardation that the child probably will never have an IQ over 40 (imbecile rating).

Fortunately, PKU now can be readily diagnosed and treated. With early detection and prompt treatment, the child can be expected to lead a full and normal life. The treatment is not complex. The PKU child is placed on a synthetic diet for the first years of life, usually until he or she enrolls in school.

The diagnosis of PKU is even easier than the treatment. A number of inexpensive and simple tests are available. One of the simplest and most accurate is called Phenistix, a chemically-treated stick of paper which is used to detect the presence of PKU by dipping in the infant's wet diaper or urine.

But the techniques of testing and treatment are not the keys to the complete control of PKU retardation. The key is routine testing of all babies, early in life.

Many physicians now routinely test for PKU, and a number of city and state health departments have instituted mass detection systems. This summer a number of hospitals will begin participation in a mass trial of a new PKU test now under development.

It is estimated that between 3,000 and 5,000 PKU victims were born in this nation in the last generation. Most of these PKU sufferers now are in institutions for the mentally retarded.

However, with the growing awareness of the need for routine testing and treatment, the medical profession in the United States will insure that the count of mentally retarded PKU victims in this and following generations will be substantially reduced.

COUNTY DOINGS

by JACK WOOD

San Mateo supervisors are making plans for development of the proposed Pescadero Dam—some four miles of flood-bed control and water conservation area due east of the County Memorial Park in central San Mateo County.

Rough estimates show the total cost of the project at about $3½ million. The county's share of the cost will be about three-quarters of a million dollars.

County manager E. R. Stallings has urged that the project get under way immediately. Initial step will be the leasing and eventual acquisition of Boy Scout Camp Pomponia, with anticipated use of the area for a minimum security site to house County Jail prisoners.

Officials expect between 60 and 90 prisoners will be housed there.

Prison work crews will clear timber out of the area and distribute the timber to the county parks department as part of their rehabilitation program.

A trained rehabilitation officer will be hired to begin a work therapy program.

Future development of the dam is expected to open by 1965. The dam will provide flood control for the coastal areas from about Half Moon Bay south. It will control runoff by channeling flood waters into Pescadero Creek and eventually into the dam. Dam water will also be used during drought periods.

The dam is expected to be suitable for a future boating and camping area.

"WHY?"

By Paris B. Simmons

Are the contentions that have been made in this column valid? How do such contentions agree or disagree with those of State and National leaders? Is it possible to obtain the "thinking" of such individuals, on a State or National level, that might apply to our local community?

To all these questions, the answer is one that is positive. Starting next week, direct and exclusive interviews will be published in the Marchbanks Publications, in this column, from leaders throughout the nation.

Because of the importance of the office of California State Superintendent of Public Instruction, the two candidates, Mr. Richardson and Mr. Rafferty, will have the first opportunity to express their viewpoints on the topic of juvenile delinquency, and to present to the readers constructive programs.

The interview with Mr. Rafferty is now complete, and his statements will be part of this column in the next issue. Following the publication of interview, comments will be made by the writer, then the interview with Mr. Richardson presented.

Depending on campaign scheduling, obligations, etc., the second two expected to address Daly City on Juvenile Delinquency through this column will be Governor Brown and opponent Richard Nixon. Others being contacted include such notables as J. Edgar Hoover, Eleanor Roosevelt, Bob Kennedy, and religious, educational and civic leaders throughout the nation.

The procedure for presenting each interview will be very simple. A short introduction by the writer, then the comments of the individual being interviewed to specific questions. There will be no comment, or censorship of any statements made in the initial presentation. These will be made in the ensuing column.

Readers wishing to hear from particular leaders of our country are invited to drop a card to this column and publication. Such requests will be honored, if it is possible.

This may well be a "new approach" towards solving a community problem, and at the same time bringing into focus the national problem of juvenile delinquency which exists in our country today.

During the month of August the writer will be visiting communities throughout the nation in an attempt to discover effective methods of curbing juvenile delinquency. The result of this private investigation will be reported on his return.

The View From .. Behind The Badge

Written and Edited by Daly City Police Department

The Patrolman . . .

The policeman is assigned to patrol a section of the community during his tour of duty, and he is likely to regard the section as "his." His own domicile is mortgaged, but the houses are "his"; his own family numbers three or four, but during his tour of duty several thousands of people are "his." They are his to look after, to caution, to direct, to reprimand and persuade, and sometimes to incarcerate; they are his to protect, to keep peaceful, to observe, to guard and help, and at times to quell.

The officer, both figuratively and actually, looks over his assigned section, that which belongs to him for an eight-hour tour of duty. Sometimes he is assigned to an area for a considerable time — years, perhaps, and the beat belongs to him at the rate of two hundred or more working days per year. In this, the patrolman begins to feel a real pride of ownership. He is aware, then, who moves in his area, and who has problems, and what houses are displaying "for sale" signs.

What is presently occuring behind behind those many walls? The officer wonders, and perhaps he doesn't really want to know. He can act against the scabby tissue; he can cut into the boils of burglary, he can salve the pimples of drunkenness, and he can sooth the sores of family disturbances. But there are internal, cancerous conditions in some of those homes, and he is not equipped to perform the serious, delicate operations which these moral sicknesses require. Most of these remain hidden inside the buildings, and will never be apparent to him. It is as well, perhaps, that most of these conditions remain hidden from him, for they would but add to his sense of futility, and his burdens are heavy enough without this additional weight.

Behind these walls, in many a house, exists a poverty of character, and filth of mind and body, and it is his mission to keep the peace, not to reorganize society. It is better that he cannot see into all of the houses, for he might be tempted to throw up his hands in complete despair and conclude that his mission is a failure altogether.

What is happening behind those walls now may come to his attention weeks or even years hence. What comes to the officer's attention on tonight's tour of duty may have been budding for months. He will have his attention directed to a house that looks like any other. He has passed it many times while on patrol. The dwelling has walls and windows like any other building in the neighborhood, and the occupants have been seen going to school, going to and from work, going grocery shopping, like the other residents of the neighborhood.

Over the years, however, the life inside of this house has not been the same as that in the other neighborhood dwellings. There has developed a mind deadening, limited horizon way of life for the occupants. They have turned completely to the pleasures of the body to the exclusion of all else, and have dwelled in the midst of physical and mental filth created by themselves. These conditions are not apparent from the outside.

The officer will be directed to this house, and there he will come upon a runaway girl. She is of high school age, and of "good family," and has been sleeping on a worn and dirty courch, in a filth-laden basement, with a good looking, youthful parolee. The couch will be located near an unrepaired sewer pipe, which is leaking human excrement into the basement.

The householders, upstairs, will disclaim knowledge that there was "anything wrong." They will stoutly maintain that they are inviolate of their castle; the castle will display floors well covered with cigarette butts, and a reeking bathroom, the fixtures of which have not known an application of cleanser or soap for years. Wine bottles will abound, and marijuana will be present.

Investigation will disclose that other runaways have been harbored in the building by the fortyish woman of the house. Two small children will be observed sleeping, fully clothed, upon a soiled mattress, which will be minus linen and blankets.

And so the officer looks over his section, and wonders what is occuring behind these walls. In most instances he will never know. What is happening at this moment may not become apparent to him for a long time.

He will visit some of the houses presently. He will deliver notification, and check out a dog bite complaint, and investigate a burglary. He will find that some homes are going concerns, containing relatively happy people who hold a regard for each other and who are trying to get ahead in the world. Others of the houses are peopled by defeated families; these abodes will be empty of laughter, books will not be present, and illumination and conversation will be at a minimum. The inhabitants have long since turned inward, away from the world and ideas, and what they see does not inspire them. Of these people, some continue to live together because it simply has not occured to them to do otherwise.

What goes on behind those walls? The officer will find out, presently, to some small degree, and he may not like what he will see. Fortunately, he will see only a very small part of what is happening behind the walls in his section.

It's News To Vets

QUESTIONS and ANSWERS

Q—Did veterans of the Revolutionary War draw pensions in old age, and if so, how much were they paid?

A—Yes. The Act of March 18, 1818, authorized payments to former officers and servicemen of the Army and Navy who were citizens of the United States and who became in need of financial support from their country because of reduced circumstances. The payments were for life and amounted to $20 a month for commissioned officers, and $8 a month for enlisted personnal. Requirements were service until the end of the war or for a period of at least nine months or longer during the war which was officially ended in April, 1783, when the treaty of peace was ratified by the states.

Q—Have memorial plots in national cemeteries been set aside to honor memories of "missing in action" veterans?

A—Yes. This also applies to deceased members of the Armed Forces whose bodies were not identified, or were lost or buried at sea or listed as unrecoverable. For further information, check any Veterans Administration office.

Q—Where can a veteran replace lost discharge papers.

A—Write to the Military Personnel Records Center, General Services Administration, 9700 Page Boulevard, St. Louis, Mo.

Something For Everyone

by Samuel Chandler

Last week William Faulkner died, and from all over the world came statement of tribute The President of the United States declared that "since Henry James, no writer has left behind such a vast and enduring monument to the strength of American Literature."

The world that Faulkner painted is a nightmare, peopled with bitter, undisciplined persons who move through ordeals created by their own prejudices and ignorance. They are children of the Deep South and products of social decay. Yet, through much of Faulkner's work passes his love for mankind. As he himself said when he received the Nobel Prize, "Man has a soul, a spirit capable of compassion and sacrifice and endurance."

This belief in man is voiced in Intruder in the Dust by the white men who seek justice for the negro, Lucas Beauchamp, and through him for the South and for humanity. A sense of higher morality shines through the grotesque stories in Go Down, Moses. Requiem for a Nun—though complex and baroque—preaches a sermon about justice and the need for mercy as one man deals with another.

To many readers, Faulkner's style is hard to follow. As a result, some people put down one of his novels after attempting to read the first page. Such readers must keep in mind that Faulkner tried to write as people talk and think. Hence, he did not worry about style and punctuation. At least he said he didn't. Nevertheless, he wrote—as the reader will find—the language and the thoughts of the decaying yet chaotic world of the South, where hate produces shudders and viciousness produces perversion and cruelty. It is a picture that had to be painted so man could see the necessity for a change.

All in all, Faulkner's stories are rewarding reading.

LAW IN ACTION

BRING BACK THE FUGITIVE

An accused person fleeing to another state to escape justice can be brought back by various means.

Under extradition, one governor asks another to capture and return the fugitive. And he usually does.

Suppose the accused skips across the border into, say, Canada or Mexico. The state working through U. S. diplomatic channels, can have him brought back under treaties which define extraditable offenses, as a rule only serious crimes.

Most foreign police work well with United States officers, and few accused persons get away completely.

When the accused jumps bail after arrest, his bondsman often assures his return. For under his contract, a bondsman can often do more than the state government can to go after the fugitive.

In return for his fee, a bondsman puts up money as a pledge that the accused will appear at trial. If he flees instead, the bondsman forfeits his money to the court. So under his contract with the accused he can pursue and bring him back.

No court can bring back the accused if it lacks jurisdiction. But the bondsman can enforce his contract against the accused anywhere in the country. For if he could not protect his bail, he would not put up his money, and our system of bail would collapse. So, as a matter of public policy, the bailbondsman can go far to bring his prisoner in.

What about a bail jumper from elsewhere who comes into California? His bondsman has a quick way to arrest and take him back. He merely files a sworn statement asking for a warrant for the fugitive's arrest. A judge holds a quick hearing, and as a rule orders the fugitive to go back with his bondsman.

Note: California lawyers often answer questions you may have about our laws.

Firemen Trained To Handle Emergencies

by JACK WOOD

An anxious mother calls the Daly City fire department. Her voice is hysterical as she sobs that her baby has stopped breathing.

Within seconds, a fire department emergency unit is on the scene administering oxygen to the infant. The baby is revived and the family is unable to express its gratitude.

This is one case among hundreds in which the local fire department responds to calls requiring emergency oxygen treatment.

"If you have a feeling for the human race, each case you go out on is a little different," commented Mel Hanson, department training officer.

More Calls

Cases in which the fire department is called out to respond to emergencies requiring the resuscitator are becoming more prevalent. The department handled 166 resuscitator calls last year, for an average of some 13 calls per month.

There have been 76 resuscitator calls already this year, through June 13. Each man in the fire department has been trained and is experienced in resuscitator methods, mouth to mouth resuscitation and closed chest and heart massage. Each fireman is required to learn advanced courses in first aid.

Originally used only for fire personnel, the department now renders oxygen treatment for anyone in need. The service was started in 1941. Each of the three Daly City fire stations is equipped with an emergency oxygen unit.

Many Treatments

Firemen have administer treatment for shortage of breath caused by:

* HEART ATTACKS.
* POST OPERATIVE SLUMPS.
* BABY'S SWALLOWING OBJECTS.
* CARBON MONOXIDE POISONING.
* EPILEPTIC SEIZURES.
* THROAT AND LUNG CONJESTION.
* BABIES WHO CHOKE WHILE FEEDING.
* SUICIDE ATTEMPTS OR DRUG OVERDOSES.
* FOOD ATTEMPTS OR DRUG OVERDOSES.
* FOOD CAUGHT IN THROAT.
* HYPER-VENTILATION.

Home Clean-up

Firemen often administer first aid to traffic accident victims and standby before ambulance arrives.

Besides this, the firemen render additional service to the community by assisting persons locked out of their homes and by cleaning up buildings after fires.

"We clean the mess up . . . use discretion in preserving family heirlooms," ect.," Hanson said.

The method of extinguishing fires has changed radically and for the better, Hanson added, since the instigation of high pressure hoses. This hard, fine spray uses less water and protects hardwood floors.

Training Current

According to Hanson, each fireman must keep his first aid training current and be trained at least four hours per month. Hanson has served as first aid and water instructor since 1937. Captain Bob Greenstrand also instructs.

Beach rescue work is part of the emergency job of Daly City firemen. A reconverted three-quarter-ton truck will replace the current beach rescue Jeep in rescue work.

A converted weapon carrier is being constructed in the city garage to be used for all rescue and salvage operations to meet the needs of the city.

Miss Joanne Balestreri Marries Gerald Lyons In High Noon Rites

High noon rites before an altar decorated in white stock and gladiolas was the setting for the Saturday, July 7, wedding at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church between Miss Joanne Balestreri and Gerald Lyons.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by Father Mathew Sullivan.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Balestreri, 319 Winchester street, Daly City. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lyons, 67 Harper street, San Francisco.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, approached the altar in an original Bianchi gown of traditional white satin, enhanced with a bodice of seed pearl scroll. The gown swept down into a bell skirt with a chapel train. Her elbow-length veil was set off with a crown of seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of orchids and lily of the valley.

Miss Dorothy Balestreri, the bride's sister, served as maid of honor. She was outfitted in a dress of peau de sois with bell skirt and a scoop neck. She wore a flowered headdress of white rose nosegays.

The bridesmaids, Catherine Balestreri, Barbara Ferroggario and Mrs. Frances Snelling, were attired in identical outfits as the maid of honor.

The groom chose his brother, Robert Lyons, as best man. Ushers were Morgan Peterson and John Murmin.

The bride's mother wore a lime green sheath with a fish-tail skirt as her outfit, with a corsage of ivory orchids. The groom's mother was attired in a beige shantung sheath with lime green accessories.

Following the ceremony, the new Mr. and Mrs. Lyons greeted 300 guests at a reception at the Sons of Italy Lodge.

For her honeymoon sojourn at Lake Tahoe the bride chose a white empress empire coat and dress with white accessories and an orchid corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Immaculate Conception Academy and is presently employed by the Bank of America.

The groom graduated from Mission High School and completed his formal education at City College of San Francisco, where he received an AA degree. He is presently working for Southern Pacific.

The Roger Williams Fellowship meets at 8 p.m.

Girl Scouts End Camp Training

The girls of Scout Troop 40 in Westlake completed a two-night camping trip to San Mateo Memorial Park recently as a preliminary training for their planned two weeks' stay at the Girl Scout residence camp at Camp Sonora this summer.

Camp Sonora is located in the Mother Lode foothills, 4½ miles from Sonora in the midst of 70 acres of wooded, gently sloping hills in an open meadow at an elevation of 2,500 feet.

The girls will live and sleep out-of-doors and can take advantage of the Olympic size pool with hot showers as well as hiking, cookouts, campfires, nature lore, singing and dramatics.

The girls' leaders, Della Santa and Bernard Albrecht, have been preparing the girls during the school year for this, their first adventure in Girl Scout camping at Camp Sonora.

The following girls are looking forward to this exciting adventure: Julie Albrecht, Colleen Coen, Denise Della Santa, Susan McVeight, Madeline Forcina, Laurel Reiterman, Elizabeth Rossi and Saundra Tonelli.

Temple Judea Holds Holy Day Services

Plans have been made by Temple Judea to hold its High Holy Day services once again this year at the First Unitarian Church, Geary and Franklin streets, San Francisco.

Rabbi Herbert Morris and Cantor Harold Wachter will officiate.

Dates of High Holy Days are as follows: Rosh Hashonah Eve, Friday, September 28; Rosh Hashonan Day, Saturday, September 29; Yom Kippur Eve, Sunday, October 7; Yom Kippur, Monday, October 8.

Those desiring reservations may contact the Temple office at PLaza 5-6362 or write Temple Judea, 95 South Mayfair avenue, Daly City.

Positions Open For Day Camp

Camp Yomah Day Camp, sponsored by the Peninsula Jewish Community Center, has completed the first of three camp periods with a "World's Fair" featuring booths, games, and fun from around the world.

Highlights of the coming three weeks will be a two night camping trip for the oldest groups at Big Basin, a series of trips for the younger groups to places of interest on the Peninsula, and a general theme of "Around the Calender in 15 Days" offering the unusual opportunity of celebrating all the major National and Jewish holidays within three weeks. The session will culminate in an "Unbirthday Party" for the whole camp.

Camp Yomah is located at Searsville Lake Park. Camp operates 5 days a week with transportation by bus arranged by the camp.

The final session of Yomah will run from August 6th to August 24th. A limited number of positions are still open. Persons interested should contact the Center immediately at LYtell 1-4438.

New Secretary At Baptist Horizons

The soft southern accent answering PL 5-8938 for Southern Baptist Horizons belongs to Miss Beverly Richardson, the new associational office secretary.

Miss Richardson is making her home with Mr. and Mrs. Lambert Stoeckle, of 44 Inyo street in Brisbane, members of the Bethel Church there. The phone is JU 7-4560.

Born in West Plains, Missouri, she spent two years at Southwest Baptist College in Bolivar, Mo., and graduated recently with a B.A. degree from Union University, a Baptist college in Jackson, Tennessee.

Miss Richardson was three times a summer missionary in language missions. In 1959, she worked with Spanish churches in West Pittsburg and Knightsen, Calif. In 1960, she did similar work in New Mexico and in 1961 was assigned to the Chinese Church in San Francisco. She is a volunteer for foreign missions and hopes to attend Golden Gate Seminary.

Fall Hebrew Classes Being Organized For Temple Judea School

Fall classes are now being organized for the Judea Sunday School and the Temple Judea Hebrew School.

Children of pre-kindergarten age through post-confirmation are eligible for the Sunday School.

Hebrew School classes, in addition to offering conversational Hebrew, are preparatory to Bar and Bas Mitzvah.

Membership in Temple Judea includes private lessons for Bar and Bas Mitzvah, given by Cantor Harold Wachter.

Those interested in enrolling their children may call Temple Judea at PLaza 5-6362 or write Temple Judea, 95 South Mayfair avenue, Daly City.

Sunday Eve Service To Be Family Affair

The Sunday evening service at the Westside Baptist Church, which meets in the Southwood School, Southwood drive and Hill street, will be a family affair this Sunday night.

The service will open with a time of inspiring congregational singing, in which everyone can participate. Then there will be special music, and the feature of the evening will be the showing of the gospel film "Seventeen." This picture is geared to youth, but has a message for adults and parents also.

After the evening service, the deaconesses of the church are sponsoring an after-glow. There will be a time of fellowship, singing, and refreshments. The purpose of the meeting is twofold—to emphasize the importance of family worship in the informality of an evening service, and presenting the Gospel message and challenge to youth through the medium of motion picture film.

At the 11 a.m. worship hour, the pastor will be speaking on the subject, "See, Here There Is Water." This service is preceded by a fine Sunday School hour, in which there is a class for every age group. Those living in the vicinity and not regular church attenders are invited to worship at Westside Baptist this Sunday.

Thursday evening at 7:45 the regular Prayer and Bible Study Hour will be held at the Robert Rutkowski home, 731 Hill street, South San Francisco.

Church To Hold Potluck Dinner

A potluck fellowship dinner will be held tonight at 6:30 at the Temple Baptist Church at 3355 19th avenue.

Those whose names begin with letters from A-G are to bring salad or desert to serve 12; those from H-Z bring hot dishes, also to serve 12.

Devotional Hour will be at 7:15 p.m.

Wedding Date Set In So. San Francisco

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond L. Fronce, 635 Hemlock, South San Francisco, announce the wedding of their daughter, Sherry Lee, to Wayne A. Gillette, of South San Francisco, to be held August 25 at St. Paul's Methodist Church in South San Francisco.

A reception will follow at 500 Miller avenue.

All fair race meets in California include two harness and two quarter horse races daily.

Polish Church To Be Formed

The Rev. Clement F. Sienkiewicz of Los Angeles will be in San Francisco for the purpose of organizing a Polish National Catholic Church, it was announced this week.

This will be the first attempt to organize a parish of this denomination in San Francisco. There have been imposters presenting themselves as clergymen of the church; however, Father Sienkiewic, who is the administrator of the Polish National Catholic Church on the West Coast, states that no other priest has been authorized to organize a National Catholic Church and any person so doing is a religious usurper.

A mass meeting of the Polish people of San Francisco and the neighboring communities will be held on Saturday, July 21, at 7 p. m. in the Polish Club, located at 22nd and Shotwell.

The public is invited.

California crop production in 1961 was placed at 32,713,000 tons, second largest in history.

A Happy Girl and a Lucky Man!

All her friends received Art Point Invitations; they added an air of quality and charm to the wedding.

All genuine Art Point Invitations have a gold seal on the Package.

Jane Plough Becomes Bride Of E. D. Taylor

An afternoon ceremony joined Jane Elizabeth Plough and E. Douglas Taylor in matrimony July 7 at St. John's Presbyterian Church.

The couple is attending the World's Fair in Seattle on their honeymoon.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth O. Plough, of 81 Rosewood drive, wore an Irish linen gown with lace trim and linen train and matching linen pillbox with shoulder length veil. Carrying white roses and lily of the valleys, she was given in marriage by her father.

Mrs. Plough, the bride's mother, wore a dress of royal blue brocade.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Taylor of 183 Wilshire avenue, Daly City. Mrs. Taylor wore a dress of green silk. Best man for the wedding was Emile Heredia.

Maid of honor was Lynda L. Taylor, the groom's sister.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. Patricia Plough, Mrs. Nanci Howell, Mrs. Merilyn Clemmens and Mrs. Meribeth Cummings, all wearing powder blue linen gowns with matching linen pillbox hats. They carried tallisman and fern nosegays. The flower girl was Stacy Ann Cummings, the groom's niece.

Performing the ceremony was Dr. Haven Davis.

The bride was graduated from Lincoln High School and Stephen's College in Columbia, Mo., and is a member of Job's daughters.

The groom also was graduated from Lincoln High School and the University of San Francisco, where he was a member of Alpha Delta Gamma fraternity.

A reception was held at the Olympic Country Club at Lakeside after the wedding.

Ushers for the wedding were Leon Brossier, Ronald Menhennet, Kenneth A. Plough and Gordon Cummings.

The bride's going away outfit was a yellow knit suit with beige patten accessories.

PENNY CARNIVAL TERMED HUGE SUCCESS

The season's first Penny Carnival was presented last Thursday at Lincoln Park under the auspices of the Daly City Recreation department. This was the first of four carnivals that will be spaced around Daly City.

One hundred and thirty children from Lincoln Park, War Memorial Building, George Washington School, Woodrow Wilson School and Frankfort Park converged upon the carnival with overwhelming enthusiasm. Shoot-a-duck, Ring-a-bucket, Baseball Throw and all the other booths ranged in price from 1c to 3c for the opportunity to participate.

Small prizes were awarded to the winners and pieces of candy to the losers. Tomorrow, July 19, the Carnival will be held at Jefferson Elementary School from 12 noon to 3 p.m.

The day following the successful Penny Carnival at Lincoln Park, 56 youngsters from Vista Mar School, Olympia School, Westlake Park, Westlake School Garden Village School, and Ben Franklin School hiked across the Golden Gate Bridge. The uppermost structure of the windblown bridge was masked in fog but this did not bother the hardy children. Everyone enjoyed this unusual and exciting hike as many youngsters expressed amazement at the height of this immense structure. The Recreation Department has scheduled three more hikes across the bridge for the other areas of Daly City.

While many Daly City children were enjoying the Golden Gate Bridge, 88 other youngsters from Thomas Edison School, Westmoor High School, Daniel Webster School and Northridge Park were escorted by their recreation leaders to the Jefferson High School swimming pool. The water-logged boys and girls had a wonderful afternoon as they enjoyed two hours of play before their brisk walk back to their playgrounds.

GEORGE WASHINGTON — Dick Roza —A ping-pong tournament will be held next week along with a checkers tournament.

LITTLE JEFF - Bob Brandi— On the agenda for this week is a Carrom Tournament. Carrom is a game very similar to pool and it is the most popular game at Little Jeff.

Last week the youngsters went on a bike ride to Golden Gate Park with Colma School. Highlights of the trip were Ron Sanguinetti's flat tire and the tremendous stamina exhibited by the recreation leader of Little Jeff.

THOMAS EDISON - Margo Sinclair — A ping pong tournament was held at Thomas Edison School to determine the school's champion last Tuesday, July 10. From the 16 original participants, the three top players in the eliminations were Larry Yamron, 1st place, Dick Witcher, 2nd; and Karen Salinger, third place.

WAR MEMORIAL BUILDING - John Williams—A coloring contest was held at the War Memorial Building on Wednesday, July 11, for boys and girls eight years old and under. The winners were Rosa Carrillo 8, first place; Cynthia Valencia, 6, second place; and Linda Merlo, 5, third place. Certificates of honor were awarded to the winners and their works are now displayed on the War Memorial building's bulletin board.

Current events include a week long ping-pong ladder tournament with three different divisions. Similar ladder tournaments in other type of games will follow.

Sign-ups are now being taken for an evening 3-man basketball league for men of high school age and over.

COMING EVENTS

Wednesday, July 25 — Fishing Derby will be held at Lake Merced. This event will be co-sponsored by the Daly City-Colma Lions Club and the Daly City Recreation Department.

Thursday ,July 26 — Montara Beach Outing for Area IV comprising Ben Franklin, Garden Village, Vista Mar, Westlake School, Westlake Park and Olympia School.

Friday, July 27 — Recreation Swimming 2:30-4:00 p.m. at the Jefferson High School Pool for Area I comprising War Memorial, Woodrow Wilson, George Washington, Frankfort and Lincoln Parks.

Hike Across Golden Gate Bridge for Area II comprising Colma, Little Jeff, Marchbanks, Vista Grande, Pauline Brown.

Ward Re-elected SMJC District Board President

Carl E. Ward of San Mateo has been re-elected as president of the board of trustees of the San Mateo Junior College district for 1962-63. Ward, a board member since 1960, was chosen at the meeting of July 11, adjourned from July 2 for lack of a quorum.

The trustees also selected Robert A. Tarver, a member of the board for nine years, to succeed himself as clerk. Trustees representative will again be Raymond T. Whitney, who has completed five years on the junior college board. Mrs. Beryl Gordon, whose resignation after 34 years of service as district business manager will be effective on October 31, has been re-appointed as secretary to the board until that date.

At the start of the regular meeting, the board received a progress report on the College Heights campus project from George Hutchison, director of building construction. Hutchinson indicated that the manpower count on the project has nearly returned to the peak reached before the start of the labor-management tie-up in May. Hutchinson also estimated that the College Heights project is now behind schedule approximately three to five months, the result of the recent labor problem and earlier delays.

The summary of attendance for 1961-62 for both day and evening college divisions was reported, with a total increase of 13.2 per cent over the previous year.

The trustees set the next regular meeting of the district board for Wednesday, July 25, at 8 p. m. at College House on the Coyote Point campus.

FASHION SHOW PLANS—H. Liebes store in Westlake will be the scene of the "First Annual Ladies Day Fashion show-luncheon June 27, under the auspices of the West of Twin Peaks Islam Shrine. Bud Retzloff (right) chairman for the day, and club president W. N. Andrus, admire fall fashions displayed by fashion coordinator Mrs. Jeanette Parkinson. Tickets are available at PL 5-p182, SU 1-7080 or LO 6-8316.

SMJC District Achieves Lower Education Costs

Another marked decrease in per-student costs of education has been achieved by the San Mateo Junior College district.

In the fiscal year summary to the board of trustees on July 11, Superintendent Julio L. Bortolazzo reported the latest decrease. For 1961-62, the current operating costs per unit of average daily attendance were lowered to $503.64, five dollars under the 1960-61 figure and a still sharper drop from the 1959-60 costs of $536.13 per unit.

In comparing district costs of education over the past years, the superintendent noted that the current figure is also several dollars below that of 1956-57, in spite of the marked rise in equipment and materials costs and increases for salaries and services during the six-year period. It was further estimated that the San Mateo district, already in the lower fourth in costs among junior colleges in the state, would reach an even more favorable rank for the latest year.

The costs of education figures are used in an annual comparative study among junior colleges in California and are considered a reliable measure of district economy and efficiency of peration. Commenting on the latest figure, Superintendent Bortolazzo stated that "cutting costs to the bone does not mean cutting education to a minimum. On the contrary, San Mateo has an optimism program, and our low costs simply mean that we are getting full education return for every tax dollar."

The fiscal report accompanied the submission of the publication budget, approved by the board of trustees at this week's meeting. The latest estimate is for a 1962-63 general fund budget of $3,281,469, based on a tax rate of .4488. The estimated tax is slightly lower than the original figure and a 4½c rise over the 1961-62 rate, rather than the predicted increase of 5 cents. The assessed valuation estimate of $840,931,590 is an increase of some 47 million dollars over the valuation of the previous year.

Prior to final adoption of the 1962-63 budget, the trustees will have the public hearing session on Wednesday, August 1.

James L. Gillingham Serves On Destroyer

James L. Gillingham, fireman, USN, son of Mrs. Patricia Gillingham of 282 Oliver street, Daly City, is serving aboard the anti-submarine destroyer USS Carpenter, operating in the Western Pacific with the Seventh Fleet.

The Seventh Fleet is the United States' first line of defense in the Far East area.

The ship is expected to visit ports in Japan and the Philippines and the port of Hong Kong.

Children's Art Exhibit At SJS

An enterprising young artist-teacher from the Lake Garda region of northern Italy is responsible for the exhibit, "Children's Art from Italy," being circulated nationally by the Smithsonian Institution and on view at the San Jose State College Art department gallery from July 13 to July 25.

The exhibit, part of the summer Festival of Arts, is open to campus and community at no charge.

Professor Sergio Pagiaro, a painter from Sirmione at the southern end of Lake Garda, teaches art in neighboring elementary schools. He recently heard about the international exhibitions of children's art held at the Junior Museum of the Metropolitan Museum of Art and began a correspondence which led to the exchange of paintings in this exhibition with paintings by children enrolled at the Junior Museum's Saturday studio hours.

The paintings in this exhibition, done especially for the American exchange, were shown first in Brescia and Milan and were received with enthusiasm by the Italian public.

The 35 watercolors and charcoal drawings by Professor Pagiaro's pupils, aged 10 to 12, include landscapes, circus clowns, imaginary subjects and action scenes depicting the Battle of S. Martino e Solferino, fought in 1859 during the War of Itialian Independence. They reflect the aims of Professor Pagiaro who encourages the children "to translate spontaneously their feelings for the nature that surrounds them."

OLDEST GEOLOGICAL FORMATIONS

The Alabama Hills, located to the west of Lone Pine in Inyo County, are reported by the National Automobile Club to be among the oldest geological formations on this continent.

Daly City And SSF Families To Host Exchange Students

The American Field Service Chapters of Westmoor and South San Francisco High Schools will be summer hosts to four exchange students en route to their countries after living with American families and attending American high schools for one year.

The students have completed a bus tour of the United States, visited in Washington, D.C., and enjoyed a final meeting with over 2,000 exchange students who have received international scholarships from American Field Service Chapters.

Returning to Australia will be Miss Valerie Mattiske, whose American home has been in Darien, Conn., and Ron Morellini, who has lived this past year in Leawood, Kansas.

La Canada, California, has been the American address of Miss Susan Irvine, who is en route to New Zealand. Attending high school in Owatonna, Minnesota, has been the experience of Conrado Tanabe, who will resume his studies in Bulacan, Philippine Islands.

Host families for the students while they are in this area will be Messrs. and Mesdames Hartley Appleton, E. H. Mickey Parks, William Cottenham and Earl Epperson.

Presidents of the Westmoor and South San Francisco American Field Service Chapters are Rev. Herbert Tweedie of Daly City and Malcolm Kohn of South San Francisco. Arrangements for the summer visits by the students have been made by Mrs. William Cottenham, A.F.S. district representative for this area.

ORT Women Plan July Barbecue

All controls are set and the crew says everything is A-O-K and ready to "GO" . . . at the Orbit-Q barbecue dinner sponsored by the Northern Peninsula chapter of Women's American Ort (Organization for Rehabilitation Through Training), blasting off Saturday, July 28, at the South San Francisco Women's Club, Grand avenue near Spruce avenue in South San Francisco.

Count down at 7:30 p. m. Donation $6 per couple. Reservations are being taken by chief astronaut Lorraine Copper at JU 3-6316 and co-astronaut Mimi Dobrow, 761-0268. Proceeds benefit ORT's vocations training program.

Vets Installs Officers

The William R. Hearst Unit No. 144 of the Disabled American Veterans' Association recently held its installation of officers for the new year. Mrs. Roosevelt Brooks was installed as commander of the unit.

Other officers installed for the coming year were: senior vice-commander, Mrs. Gilbert Lee; junior vice-commander, Mrs. Andrew E. Anderson; chaplain, Mrs. George Henwood; treasurer, Mrs. Patricia Fawcett. Unit members installed to serve on the executive committee were Mrs. Margaret Coffman and Mrs. Henry Guisande.

The next regular meeting will be held Tuesday, July 24, 8 p.m., at the Veterans War Memorial Building, Van Ness avenue and McAllister street.

Camps Cost $14 For Boys, Girls

An Associational G. A. Camp for girls 9-16 will be held August 6-10 at Sunshine Camp near Walnut Creek. The cost is $14 per person.

An Associational R. A. Camp for boys 9-16 will be held August 13-17 at Cazadero near the Russian river. The cost also is $14 per person.

Registrations are being sent to pastors, according to Southern Baptist Horizons of Daly City.

Water Follies At Cow Palace

A world-famous aquacade, the first to play the Bay Area since Billy Rose's troupe at the World's Fair of 1939, will appear at the Cow Palace for seven performances, from Wednesday, August 8, through Sunday, August 12, under the sponsorship of the San Francisco Fire Departments's Widows' and Orphans' Aid Association.

The Water Follies of 1962, a complete musical revue in water and on stage, will present a team of fancy and stunt divers headed by Charlie Diehl, who starred in the Billy Rose Aquacades, stunt man Roger Nadeau, Canadian and Australian chapions Emile Hotte and Clive Dyson.

SHORT TRIPS

Eighty per cent of the passenger car trips made in the United States are under ten miles, according to the National Automobile Club.

Daly City Woman Gets Army Award

Mrs. Alice E. Cudd, 123 Skyline drive, Daly City, employed in the Command Operational projects office at Fort Mason, has received an Army sustained superior performance award and a $150 check in recognition of her outstanding work during the past year.

The awards were presented by Brig. Gen. Robert C. Tripp, commanding general of the U. S. Army Transportation Terminal Command, Pacific, of which the Command Operational projects office is a part.

RACING ENGINE NO TEST

Many motorists and mechanics, when they have finished some minor or major repair work on the engine will race it, points out the National Automobile Club.

No useful purpose is served by this action. Merely racing the engine does not produce the same conditions that prevail when it is pulling the car.

Speeding up the engine while the car is at rest merely is generating energy that must be thrown off by the engine itself. It does a great deal more harm than good.

OBITUARIES

Blasius Sampiere

A Requiem High Mass was celebrated for the repose of the soul of Blasius Sampiere, Saturday morning, July 14, from Our Lady of Mercy Catholic Church.

Sampiere, a native of Italy and a resident of Daly City for the past 12 years, passed away July 10 in St. Mary's Hospital. He resided at 71 Lake Vista avenue.

He is survived by his loving wife, Mildred, and son Eugene. He was the brother of Joseph and Smithy Sampiere, Mrs. Mary Princiotta, Mrs. Lucy Mazzota, Mrs. Grace Gibbons, Mrs. Josephine Rendina, Mrs. Yolanda Foster, Mrs. Rita Maglaino and Mrs. Antoinette Silva. He is also surveved by grandchildren Jeffrey and Stephen Sampiere.

Interment was at Holy Cross Cemetery, under the auspices of W. C. Lasswell and Co.

Herbert Leahy

Funeral services were held Monday, July 16, at 8:30 a.m. for Herbert Leahy, 200 Vista Grande avenue, Daly City, from the W. C. Lasswell Mortuary, thence to Our Lady of Perpetual Help for a Requiem High Mass.

Leahy was a native of California and a retired employee of the Daly City Water Department after 32 years of service.

He is survived by his wife, Nellie; son, Richard, and daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Coleman. He was the brother of Mrs. Lillian Fancort and is also survived by eight grandchildren.

Interment was at Holy Cross Cemetery.

Angelo Lagomarsino

Angelo Lagomarsino, 333 Second avenue, Colma, passed away July 12 at his home. He had been a life-long resident of this area.

A Requiem High Mass was offered Saturday, July 14, at 10 a.m., from Holy Angels' Catholic Church.

He was the son of the late Fiacinto and Catherine Lagomarsino; brother of Ronnie and Fred Lagomarsino, and uncle of Robert Lagomarsino and Mrs. Gladys Callan.

Interment was at Holy Cross Cemetery. Arrangements were handled by W. C. Lasswell and Company.

GUARD OFFICER Ronald S. Nagy, 229 Wilshire avenue, Daly City, will be among 70 new junior leaders to graduate July 21 from the California Army National Guard Officer Candidate School. The exercises, signifying completion of the rigorous year-long course, are scheduled for 11 a.m. in the Post Theater, Camp San Luis Obispo.

Registration To Begin For Oceana

Registration and pre-program counseling will begin Thursday, July 19, at Oceana High School, 401 Paloma avenue, Pacifica.

Registration will be only for students new to the district or those who have not been programmed into their high school classes at Oceana.

Registration time will be from 8:30 a.m. to 12 p.m., Monday through Friday until the opening of school Sept. 11.

Students are advised to register as early as possible. The testing, counseling and programming should take no more than two hours.

If a student has high school credits at another school, he should make arrangements to have the transcript of these grades sent to Oceana. This will aid the counselor in helping the student select the correct courses.

The administration looks forward to meeting all students and parents new to the district.

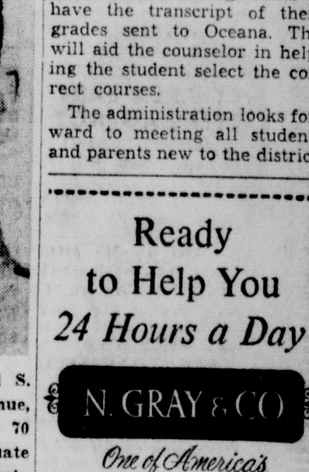
WHAT'S DOING

T. P. Coyne, your Telephone Manager in Daly City



Safety's always been in style at Pacific Telephone, and today that style features a belt in front. They're the seat belts we've installed in company vehicles—designed not to keep telephone people in fashion, but to keep them in place.

For our safety philosophy is based on the wise old saying, "an ounce of prevention is better than a pound of cure." While seat belts can't prevent accidents, they can help prevent serious injury should an accident happen.

Matter of fact, telephone people have found this safety idea such a good one, many are installing seat belts in their own cars.

* * * * *

Have you seen the new Bell Chime? It's a telephone bell you can set to call you in any of these three tones: a soft, melodic chime when you want peace and quiet, or when someone's resting; a regular telephone ring; a loud bell you can easily hear when you're outdoors or when there's lots of activity in the house. If you'd like to find out more about the modern, low-cost Bell Chime, just call your telephone business office or ask your telephone service man.

* * * * *

A handy item for traveling is a Bell System credit card. With it, you can make long distance calls when you're away and have them charged to your own telephone number. You simply give the operator the information shown on your credit card.

Another handy feature of the credit card is a cut-out slot that can hold a dime so you'll always have one ready for a coin booth. Your telephone business office will be glad to tell you more about these convenient credit cards.

THE MOST POWERFUL VOICE IN NORTHERN CALIFORNIA

the winner's circle

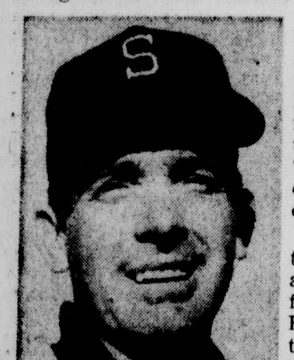
By GARRY NIVER

While fight promoter Benny Ford is busy counting his predicted rubles from the upcoming Gene Fullmer-Dick Tiger middleweight title bout, another San Francisco promoter is sadly counting his losses.

Genial Lou Thomas, a dynamo in presenting boxing shows in San Francisco, has just about thrown in the towel. Thomas, who has been presenting bi-weekly shows at the antiquated Kezar Pavilion, has just about reached the end of the line.

He has been putting on top shows at the pavilion for over a year with little success. Small gates, rising costs and fighters holding out for larger purses have just about killed San Francisco's last chance to be known as a good fight town.

The City by the Golden Gate, once known for its colorful boxing champions, refuses to support the existing shows which Thomas has been promoting.



TOM MORGAN
Christman Coach

It is unfortunate, too, because there is plenty of good "unnamed" boxing talent in San Francisco. People have adopted the misconception that unless the fight is between two "name" fighters or a championship bout, the event will be no good.

Actually it is the rule to the contrary which usually prevails. The "name" fighters come into San Francisco and waltz through a fast 10 for a quick payday. (The upcoming Fullmer-Tiger fight is an exception as this should be one of the better middleweight fights staged anywhere in the past 10 years.) It is usually the unheralded and hungry fighter, trying to make good, who puts on the best show for the fans. The latter is what Thomas has been trying to present to San Francisco fans.

His bouts at Kezar have been low-priced to fit the workingman's pocketbook. Ringsides sell for $3.00, with other seats scaled down to $1.00. The talent which has been gracing the canvas at the pavilion has been mostly lads on their way up—who generally give it their all.

What makes us appalled at San Francisco sports fans is that they will fill the Cow Palace for $48,000 gates to watch the phony gyrations of men who perform under the pseudonym of "wrestlers."

These performers, and we classify them as performers because the events are non-competitive, hurl vituperative insults at each other to invoke the wrath of the crowd. Races and ethnic groups are slandered for the sole purpose of filling the till.

This is what the San Francisco sports fan is now backing.

In the meantime, the once-prized area of fisticuffs, which has become somewhat tarnished of late, continues its hasty spiral to the bottom—and the public is to blame.

Next Monday night at Kezar, Thomas will present a boxing card which could be his last. He has lined up youthful, unbeaten Mission district bantamweight Mike Galo in the feature attraction against Eduardo Santos.

Many of the oldtime ring buffs, who have seen Galo in action, believe he has what it takes to be a champ. Whether he ever makes the top or not, Galo is a colorful and exciting gladiator.

Also on the card with Galo will be hard-hitting Hank Barrera, who scored a dramatic kayo in his last outing. Barrera, like Galo, is also exciting. In his last outing, he had the people applauding at the end of each session. Barrera's opponent will be Speedy Henderson.

So next Monday night if you are not doing anything, stop over at Kezar Pavilion and see some future "name" talent display their fistic wares. It will be a worthwhile excursion, and besides, it might be your last chance to see an economical and exciting boxing show in San Francisco.

ON THE SIDELINES — Local product Terry Christman, former Westmoor High All PL baseball player, won the Most Valuable Player Award in the Northern California All-Star Game last Sunday at Big Rec.

Coach Tom Morgan's SF State star also won a trip to New York to play in the Hearst Sandlot Game in Yankee Stadium on August 15. Christman hurled five innings of no-run ball and banged out a double in the game.

Another localite, George Claus, former Jefferson baseball star, also participated in the game. Claus also banged out a double for the SF All-Star victors.

South SF's Charlie Ross, a baseball and water ski star, is now at Fort Bragg, North Carolina, attending paratrooper school. Ross is going to be a para-medic and has already completed six jumps.

Two of former SF State Coach Joe Verducci's products are now in camp with the Oakland Raiders. Julius Varnado and Willie Simpson, who played on Coach Joe's undefeated 1959 eleven, are trying out for the team. Varnado was on the taxi-squad last year and Simpson was one of the final men released by the Pittsburgh Steelers in training last year.

Another of Verducci's boys, Charlie Fuller, is already a regular on the squad and will report to practice in a few weeks with the vets.

WESTMOOR CENTER SERVICES 1500 WEEKLY

(This is the second in a series of articles on the recreation facilities offered by the city of Daly City.)

By GARRY NIVER

The white ping pong ball flashed from one corner of the table to another. Intention and perspiration were evident on the two youths' faces as they battled back and forth, getting a glancing approval from pretty Gerri Caldarola from time to time.

In the foyer a group of little children were receiving instructions in arts and crafts from teacher Paul Crowley. And on the softball diamond outside, Jeff Stahl was umpiring a softball game between a group of young teenagers.

The location of this multitude of youthful activity is the Westmoor high school, one of the city's largest recreation centers during the summer.

Located at the corner of Eastmoor and Edgemont avenues, the center, which is used by the Daly City recreation center for ten weeks during the summer, provides various activities for the youth of Daly City.

Besides the four softball fields, the activity room and the arts and crafts class, the center also provides a gymnasium for basketball, volleyball and badminton.

The Westmoor center opens at 12 noon and is a bustle of activity until 5 p. m. The gymnasium is opened again at 7 p. m. by Jeff, and basketball games are played every night until 10 p. m. On Tuesday and Thursday nights a teenage basketball league takes over the hardwoods.

Gerri, a pretty Daly City lass who just completed two years at Dominican College and plans to enroll at Northwestern next semester, is in charge of the activities inside the building.

She supervises the youths who play ping pong, chess, carrom, checkers, paddle pool, and ring-a-tac-toe.

Jeff, a senior in social science at San Francisco State, takes care of the gymnasium and the four baseball diamonds outside.

Crowley, who is an arts and crafts teacher at Oakland's St. Elizabeth High School, instructs children several hours per day at Westmoor and has classes at other recreational centers in the city.

The recreation department, in co-operation with the Jefferson High School district and the YWCA, also offers specialized classes in ballet dancing, tap dancing and baton twirling at the center. The teachers are provided by the YWCA.

On Fridays, Gerri and Jeff take their charges over to the Jefferson High School pool for an afternoon of swimming.

Jeff reports that an average of 1,500 youths and adults use the facilities during the week. Jeff also notes that the close cooperation he gets with Ed Morgan of the school district and Tony Giamonna, athletic director at Westmoor High School, aids considerably in providing the varied summer program for the youths.

SSF Dragster Puts Title On The Line

South San Francisco's Sammy Hale will pilot the Champion Speed Shop Special twice this week when he puts the car's number five national eliminator title on the line against challenger Floyd Head from San Antonio, Texas.

Hale, who has yet to see defeat in a big match this year, will meet Head on Saturday night and again Sunday.

The Champion car, from South San Francisco, has turned 180 mph and recently set back the world champ "Swamp Rat II." It is the world's fastest Chevrolet-powered dragster.

Head drives a supercharged Chrysler dragster, which has been clocked in excess of 180 miles an hour.

Saturday's gates open at 2 p. m. with the main eliminations scheduled for 8:30 p. m.

On Sunday, the National Hot Rod Association will hold its annual National Record race at Half Moon Bay. The race, for the regional championships, will feature the world's top points champion, Jim Nelson of Carlsbad, Calif. Nelson drives a supercharged Dodge sling-shot dragster.

Gates open at 8:30 a. m. Sunday with the eliminations scheduled to begin at 12:30 p. m. The Half Moon Bay Drag Strip, with free parking and grandstand area, is located 26 miles south of San Francisco on Coast Highway No. 1.

CHULLA, GUDELJ, LEAD MISRACKS

M&S Builders and Sun Valley Dairy continued their winning ways, deadlocked for top spot in the Tri-City Midget baseball league. The top action of the week, however, came as Larry Chulla and Steve Gudelj teamed up to pitch an 11-0 no-hit win for Misracks Sporting Goods of Daly City over the Winston Seals.

Misracks win over the Seals enabled them to remain one-half game off the pace and was sparked by Mike Gugliolmoni's two-run homer, and three hits each by Abe Schaffer and Gudelj.

M&S, behind the pitching of Bruce Collins and Bruce Brian, took a 7-1 win over the Sunshine Gardens Improvement Club. Collins and Brian aided their own cause with doubles.

Brad Brian also added a double for the Builders, while Luke Linich and Bobby Collins sparkled defensively. Terry O'Bannion pitched well for Sunshine Gardens, chalking up seven strike-outs and going the distance.

Sun Valley edged the San Bruno Merchants 5-2, scoring three runs in the fourth inning and adding a pair of insurance tallies in the fifth. Steve Murphy and Marsh Neil teamed up to pitch the win, getting outstanding defensive support from Lou Lodgiani, Tom McGovern and Neil.

Dave Betts two-run triple was the big blow for the dairymen. Mike Rolley went the distance on the mound for the Merchants while Jim Klotodich accounted for both San Bruno runs, driving in the first for a triple and the second on a single.

The PAL Officers blasted Parkview of San Bruno 19-2 and the PAL Detectives downed the PAL Sergeants 15-7, to round out the week's activity.

National Trophy Meets PAL Officers In PWL

The front-running National Trophy team attempts to lengthen its two-game gap in the South San Francisco Pee Wee League when it takes on the PAL Officers this Thursday at 6 p. m. on Parkway No. 1.

The National Trophy team is currently tied with the Winston Manor Merchants for first place in the league with a 13-1 mark. The Officers are in fourth place with an 8-6 record.

In last week's feature game, the PAL Chiefs stayed close on the heels of the leaders by dumping Brentwood Markets, 11-1.

The Chiefs put forth a sparkling defensive effort, holding the Marketmen to just four hits. Gary Stagnaro, Frank Cavaco and Art Olsen each banged out three hits to lead the victors at the plate. Don Solomon and Jon Cosbie each got two hits for Brentwood.

On defense, Ron Ghilardi, Howard Cavaco and Dennis Axell were the heroes for Brentwood.

In other Pee Wee action, the Winston Manor Merchants nabbed their 13th victory of the campaign by dumping the Southwood Merchants, 18-5. National Trophy also was victorious, downing the PAL Captains, 13-3.

DC Midget Teams Return To Action

Daly City midget teams return to local diamonds in a new league this week. The department of recreation has organized and started a late summer midget league composed of 16 teams divided into two divisions.

Teams in the Westlake division of the league include the San Francisco PAL Constables, winner of the Eastern division crown in the early league; the PAL Redsox, runners-up; a strengthened BYA Bender Roofing team; BYA George Harrison Realty; BYA Relish Bakery; Misracks Midgets; the PAL Indians, who took the crown in the Western division, and runners-up, Parkmerced.

In the Marchbanks division of the new loop, a new club leads off the list. The BYA Matadors, coached by Niels Rosen, will meet in competition with the BYA Forresters, Holy Angels Colts, Holy Angels Lions, Our Lady of Mercy, Our Lady of Perpetual Help, PAL Giants and the PAL Yankees.

The teams will play on week nights at Colma, Westlake, Marchbanks and Parkmerced diamonds. Games start at 6:15 p. m.

PAL Indians Grab Western Division

Leonard Barnette's PAL Indians gave up their feathers for the Western Division crown. The Indians squeezed by Parkmerced, 5-4, in a play-off game for honors in the Wester Division of the Daly City department of recreation's Midget League.

Indian star Russ Runge combined pitching and batting talents to claim the victory for the Tribe. Runge was responsible for four of the five Indian runs. He was credited with two home run blows and the game winning single.

Bill Frahm of Parkmerced pitched a great game, striking out 11 Indian batsmen and giving up three bases on balls. But the seven hits and heads-up base-running by the Indians accounted for one more run than the Parkmerced team could tally. Parkmerced took ten hits off Runge but had 11 men die on the bases.

The game went seven innings. Boston of Parkmerced garnered three hits, while teammate Evans hit three for four. Broadbent, Peters, Schrock and Runge were the big sticks for the Tribe.

Junior Baseball League Opens Up

The late summer Junior Baseball leagues start this week with Daly City Drugs facing Silver Terrace in the Far West division. Losing twice to the Terrace boys in the early league, the Drugs will be looking for revenge.

Later in the week, Misracks will play South Sunset at Parkmerced.

OLPH, under the guidance of Ben Parodi, will meet George Pedroni's PAL Tigers today (July 18) at Marchbanks. The PAL Cubs will test Skyline Plaza Merchants' new additions. Coach John Perry now has Rocky Collins on the mound for the Merchants.

Dons Lose Mentor; Gain Administrator

For the second time in recent years, the University of San Francisco has lost a soccer coach and gained an administrator. It happened Thursday, July 12, with the appointment of Robert A. Braghetta as assistant director of admissions, succeeding Richard J. Barnhart.

Braghetta, 27, coached the Don booters into the NCAA semi-finals last year.

Physical Fitness Program To Begin At Ben Franklin

A physical fitness program for the Benjamin Franklin-Garden Village recreation centers is being planned and will start when summer school is over.

Workouts will start Tuesday, July 24, at 11 a. m. They will be held twice weekly on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 11 a. m. to noon.

Youngsters over ten years of age are welcome to take part.

The program will be under the leadership of Bob Lualhati, track coach at Jefferson High School, and Bill Mendosa, physical education director at Benjamin Franklin High School.

Boys intending to participate in the program can bring clothing to change into for workouts. And they may use the Benjamin Franklin facilities for showers afterwards. For any information regarding the program, please contact the above mentioned leaders at either school.

Tournaments are still one of the highlights of the program. Benjamin Franklin is going to have a shuffleboard tournament and at Garden Village youngsters are signing up for ping pong.

New hours when the summer school ends July 20 will be:

Benjamin Franklin: 9:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m., Monday through Friday.

Garden Village: 9:30 a. m. to 7 p. m., Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday.

Mrs. Rasmussen Nabs Low Honors At Cypress Hills

Mrs. Harry Rasmussen toured the Cypress Hills layout in a net 35, July 5, to win Class A honors in the Cypress Hills Golf Club women's even-hole tourney.

Mrs. David Reed took second-place honors with a net 36½.

In the Class B division, Mrs. Edwin Ray fired a net 36½ to edge out Mrs. John Reynolds and Mrs. Alfred Majoulet.

SSF's BARBAROTTO HURLS NO-HITTER

Wayne Barbarotto joined the growing list of no-run, no-hit pitchers in South San Francisco's Merchant sponsored Baseball League last week when he hurled QFI to a 71-0 Pony League win over the PAL Lieutenants.

Pony League

Barbarotto, getting hitting support from Arnie Andreacchi with four for four, and Bob Smith with three for four, joins Andreacchi with a pair of no-hitters, and PAL One's Steve (double no-hit) Sanguinetti on the list of no-hit Pony League pitchers.

Andreacchi and Botief Construction's Phil Lyons hooked up in a pitchers duel Saturday as both hurlers threw one-hitters, with QFI winning 2-0. The Grocers scored both runs in the opening frame on a pair of walks and an error. Andreacchi struck out 16, while Lyons fanned seven.

Clearlite Trophy retained their one game lead with a pair of wins, downing PAL No. 2, 9-1 and then edging Winston Shell 11-9. Miller Realty stayed right on their heels by taking wins over Winston Shell 14-5 and PAL No. 1, 14-2.

PAL No. 1 downed Botief Construction 7-4 and PAL No. 2 romped to a 14-3 win over the PAL Lieutenants to round out the Pony League action.

Eastern Division

The PAL Captains, rolling along like old man river, swept a pair of wins last week, to retain their strangle hold on the top spot in the 13-And-Under Eastern division.

Jim Moran pitched the Captains to a 16-3 win over the PAL Inspectors and Dave Hillgrove held Plaza Furniture to two hits, beating them 11-2.

Buri Buri L&D and Twelve Mile House played to a 3-3 standoff as Bob Ogden and Bob Pallari locked horns in a pitching duel. The tie followed wins for both teams. Buri Buri edged Starlite Hofbrau 6-4 and 12 Mile House nipped Plaza Furniture 8-7 earlier in the week.

Final action for the week saw Starlite topple the winless PAL Inspectors 13-3.

13-And-Under, Western

The 13-And-Under, Western Division title race tightened up as the pace-setting Winston Drugs split a pair, losing to St. Veronica's 13-11, and then downing the Kiwanis 12-2. The PAL Sergeants narrowed the Druggist's lead to a game and one-half with a pair of wins, nipping the PAL Chiefs 6-5 in eight innings, and then dumping Bayview Savings 13-9.

The Winston Dukes edged the PAL Chiefs 9-8 and Bayview stopped Kiwanis 13-7 to round out Western Division play.

Three Teams Top SSF Rec League

Alta Loma, Hillside Recreation Center and Sunshine Gardens each swept to a pair of wins to open play in the South San Francisco Recreation and Parks Department seventh and eighth baseball league.

Alta Loma downed Brentwood Park, 12-4, and then came back to take a 9-3 win over Orange Park later in the week.

Hillside's wins came over Brisbane, 7-4, and Brentwood Park, 6-5. Sunshine Gardens scored 14-3 and 12-0 wins over Orange Park and Buri Buri Park, respectively.

Final seventh and eighth action saw Parkway split a pair, downing Buri Buri Park and then losing to Brisbane.

The Sixth Grade and Under action saw Orange Park down Brentwood Park and Parkway decision Buri Buri.

Hillside Rec Center and Brisbane round out the six-team league.

In the Recreation Department-sponsored Frosh-Soph League, the Angels and Brisbane continued to pace the eight-team loop with 4-0 records.

Bowling Tourney For State Fair

Three hundred of the best bowlers in California will compete in the marathon State Fair Masters Invitational Open event from August 29 to September 9 on unique portable alleys.

The tournament, being sponsored by the Bowling Journal, has been opened to all champion bowlers in the state.

More than $6,000 in cash and prizes will be given to the best bowlers who survive the tournament. Bowl-offs are now being conducted to find the best entries for the event, according to Fred W. Evicci, editor of the Bowling Journal.

Entries are limited to 300.

4 Reserve Ships Back From Duty

Four San Francisco based Navy Reserve Ships returned yesterday to Treasure Island from a ten-month tour of duty in the Pacific.

Aboard are approximately 35 officers and 360 enlisted reservists, all from Northern California, on destroyer escourts USS Alvin C. Cockrell, Edmonds and Walton, and the destroyer USS Laws.

The nearly 400 reservists, weekend warriors who became full-time sailors along with 8,000 others were recalled under the military buildup program triggered by Berlin tensions.

By August 1, most of the reservists will be back in civilian life, their one-year shortened to 10 months by Presidential order. The Navy plans to release all but a few who will stay on active duty either by choice or to complete obligated service.

Some 40 dependent families who moved to Hawaii when the ships were assigned there last fall were returned by air and sea transportation in time to welcome the ships at Treasure Island.

The Edmons and the Walton have been gone from the Bay Area since last fall. The cockrell left in December for Pearl Harbor after a scheduled overhaul in an East Bay shipyard, while the Laws has been operating with the First Fleet since the recall.

Operating out of the Navy's big Philippine base at Subic Bay, the ships rotated on patrol duty in the South China Sea and participated in training exercises with the South Viet Nam Navy.

Ports of call in the Far East included Hong Kong, Manila, Saigon, and various cities in Japan. The ships returned to Pearl Harbor early in June.

Warren Wynkoop grew up on the Peninsula and was a former All-PAL star at San Mateo High School. For the past seven years he has been a Peninsular sportswriter and radio announcer. He presently does a weekly sportshow over station KKHI and during basketball season does the play-by-play of the University of San Francisco basketball team. He is a business partner of Giant Mike McCormick and his intimate knowledge of the San Francisco Giants has been relayed into an excitable new column called "Giant Steps," which will now appear weekly in the Westlake Times and Daly City Record.

Every scucessful major league baseball team must have a "safety-valve" player . . . that man known as the pinch hitter.

San Francisco's man is Bob Nieman. But I'm sorry to say that Nieman has seen better days. When the husky veteran came here from Cleveland he was belting a lifetime .295 batting average. However, Nieman has been a patsy for National League pitchers this season.

A pinch hitter's batting average is secondary to his ability to deliver that "big hit." The one that wins the old ball game.

If there is a man who fits the description of the "P-H" it's Gene Woodling, who played on five world championship teams with the New York Yankees. Gene certainly was a contributing factor to the Yanks' success.

Well, this former San Francisco Seal with 17 years in the majors was available at the same time that the Giants acquired Nieman.

Woodling, long favorite with the once beloved Seals, was purchased on June 17 by the hilarious New York Mets. Gene came over to the National League from the Washington Senators.

Ex-Yank and current Mets boss, Casey Stengel knew a pinch hitter when he saw one, just like he knew former Giant Johnny Mize would help win a pennant for him a few years back with the Gotham Bombers.

Clutch hitting has long been a favorite pastime with Gene — and Woodling gave fans a taste of clutch hitting a couple of weeks ago when the Mets were in town.

Woodling, playing in "The City" for the first time since he left the Seals, smashed a bases loaded double that beat the Giants.

Gene beamed with delight in the dressing room after that game. "My heart has always been here," Woodling remarked. "Did you hear the crowd give me that ovation, even though I was playing against the Giants?"

Why shouldn't San Francisco fans greet Gene in such a manner? After all, the last time he was here, Woodling won the Pacific Coast League batting title with a .385 average in 1948.

Earlier, I mentioned that Mize was a great pinch hitter with the Yankees. And this writer ranks Woodling close to Big John.

It was in the twilight of Mize's career that the Yanks picked up Mize from the Giants.

Mize broke out in a rash of base knocks and the Yanks rode a wave of his hits to a pennant and a World Series.

It was strictly a one-year deal, Johnny knew the end was near and he simply gave it that one last shot before bowing out.

Gene Woodling, I'm sure, would have given the Giants that one last burst before retreating to the clubhouse with the dignity of an aristocrat on his way to the guillotine.

NOTES: Giant second baseman Chuck Hiller works as a laborer with his dad's contracting firm in his native Johnsburg (Ill.). But Chuck may quit the off-season activity and settle down as a permanent San Mateo resident. . . . Ex-Giant catcher Harry Danning (four All-Star games) is now an insurance man and lives in San Bruno, which also brings to mind that Stu Miller is the same in San Carlos. . . . Dodger pitcher Johnny Podres had a boyhood hero just like the rest of us. But he wasn't a hurler, he was Brooklyn's Dolph Camilli, now a Yankee scout and a dandy first sacker.

Daly City BYA Baseball School

B. Y. A., under the supervision of Coach Paul Campion, will hold a baseball school starting at 6 p. m. Wednesday, July 25, at Colma School, Hillside boulevard, Daly City.

All boys from ages six to 11 years are invited to attend. Coach Campion, with the aid of other coaches, will take in all phases of baseball. Parents interested in seeing their boys started in organized baseball should take advantage of this offer and attend the school one night a week throughout the summer.

Mrs. Reed Wins Low Honors At Cypress

Mrs. Dave Reed nabbed the ladies' Class A medal play honore at the Cypress Hills Golf Club last Thursday by firing a 94-23-net 1.

Mrs. A. Proctor and Mrs. Fred Mazzoli tied for second place honors with net 2's.

In the Class B event, Mrs. Ernest Ray carved out a neat net 6 to take the low honors. Mrs. H. Cayla and Mrs. J. C. Ryan tied for second place with 77's.

Mrs. Fred Filliams, sporting a 40 handicap, took top honors in the Class C division with a net 73. Mrs. J. Stocton was next with a 76.

Eagle Scouts Given Awards

"How the American Flag Grek," presented by 16 uniformed Explorer Eagle Scouts, opened the recent Court of Honor by College City Boy Scout Troop and Explorer Crew 340 at Commodore Sloat School, Ocean avenue and Junipero Serra boulevard, San Francisco, in which troop awards and Scout-O-Rama ticket salesmen awards were presented, and 18 leaders and 50 Scouts, including four Eagle Scouts, were honored.

In a candlelight ceremony depicting the meaning of the symbolism and the ranks in Scouting, conducted by Scoutmaster D. C. Bryant for both Scouts and Leaders, the honored Scouts received 70 Merit Badges, seven Tenderfoot, six Second Class, three First Class, 16 Star, three Life, and three Eagle Badges, and one Bronze Palm for the Eagle Badge.

Scouts attaining the higher ranks included: Star Rank—John Alger, Stephen Bullis, David Carlson, Richard Boyle, Walter Gibeau, James Harrison, Scott Heymann, Dirk James, Jeffrey Karp, Alvin Kazarian, Alan Kenck, William Lipson, Gregory Nickerson, Michael O'Connell, Terry Odgers, and Gregory Pantages; Life Rank—Michael Harrison, Robert Heideman, and Howard Squires; Eagle Rank—Robert Leeds, John Lindbergh, and William Sommers; and Bronze Palm for the Eagle Badge—Larry Teshara.

Thirty-two Scouts of Troop 340 have attained the high honor of Eagle Scout. In addition, three Eagle Scouts have earned the Bronze Palm for the Eagle Badge; three additional Eagle Scouts have earned all three Palms for the Eagle Badge (bronze, silver and gold), and one Eagle Scout has earned five Palms for the Eagle Badge.

Recreation Dept. Issues Plea For Softball Loop

In an attempt to reach individuals and organizations interested in playing softball but unable to come up with top notch pitching, the department of recreation announces the formation of a "slow-pitch" softball league.

The purpose of a slow pitch league is to enable organizations such as churches, civic clubs, employees of various concerns, etc., to participate in a league where top notch pitching does not prevail. The basic rule to pitching reads: "Each pitched ball must ride above the batter's shoulder prior to passing the plate." Other local rules which are set up to enable as much participation as possible indicate that "spikes or cleats will not be allowed; stealing of bases will not be allowed," etc.

The league is set up with a minimum entrance fee. All games will be twilight games, starting at 6:30 p. m. and will be played on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings. All participants must reside in the Daly City-Broadmoor-Colma area. A managers' meeting for all teams interested in entering the league will be held at the War Memorial Community Center, 144 Hillside boulevard, Thursday, July 26, at 7:30 p. m. Any team desiring further information may call PL 5-0850, extension 18.

It's SPARE TIME

at Westlake Bowl

By JIM GREALISH

Bonnie Birkett took home the $10.00 first prize in Monday's Ladies' Swiss Singles with a total of seven points and 635 pins. Second place went to Pat Marks with five points and 605 pins while Sharon Sylvester and Emily Drago tied for third place with three points with Sharon knockin, down 598 pins and Emily getting a total of 589.

Bowlers in the 805 Scratch League and all his many friends from Westlake Bowl wish a speedy recovery to J. P. Hargrove, retired Director of the Columbia Park Boys' Club, who is temporarily confined to St. Mary's Hospital.

The P.A.L. Tournament continues to move along in high gear. With over $2500.00 realized during the first three weeks, co-chairmen Pat Garcia and Al Stagnaro are still hopeful of hitting the $6,000 goal for this year's tournament. There has been a heavy advance registration for PAL Booster Night next Saturday. With a full program of bowling, dancing and buffet at a total cost of $3.00, it is recommended that reservations be made in advance.

Doris Arnott and Betty Levesque were the high rollers in the Tuesday Trio with a 470 series. Betty shot a high game of 184 while Doris had a best effort of 159.

Rich Clatt started on the comeback trail last week with a 219 game and 573 series in the Country Club League.

This is a busy week at Westlake with the P.A.L. Tournament and Northern California Mixed Fours Championships.

Roy Franchini, the "B of A Flash" really tore up the pins last week as he posted a big 573 series with a 202 high game.

The B'nai B'rith leaders for the week were Rae Levy with 168 and 468 in the daytime league and Al Steinberg with 239 and 580 in the Monday night league.

The Westlake beauties will once again have an opportunity to display their talent next month when a Miss 300 Contest will be held in connection with the Second Annual Aid Retarded Children Tournament. The contest closes August 1 and entry blanks are available at the desk.

Gary Moeller and Fred Von Husen put on an exhibition of fancy bowling in the 540 Trio last week as Gary posted games of 201-231-212 and 177 for an 821 total while Fred's 848 series came from games of 193-246-235-174.

The Westmoor Handicap found a new leader last week as Chris Duff shot a 201 game and 574 series.

Pat Burbage was a repeat leader in the Sunset Ladies' Handicap with a 166 game and 468.

Last week's leader in the Early Quads was Ethyl Scrievers as she registered a 154 game and 419 series.

Camera Club To Display Top Pictures

During the month of August, the top 60 prints, including the print of the year, from the International Print Club Competition of the Photographic Society of America, will be presented by the Sunset Camera Club at the Photography Center of San Francisco, 50 Scott street, San Francisco.

Hours will be Monday through Friday, 3:30 p. m. to 7:45 p. m.; Saturday, 10 a. m. to 5 p. m., and Sunday, 12 noon to 5 p. m. Admission is free.

The prints represent 32 clubs out of 81 clubs which enter the competition throughout the United States, Canada and Panama five times a year. The International Print Club Competition is only one of the activities offered to member clubs of the Photographic Society of America. Of the 81 clubs which are entered in the competition, 14 of the clubs come from California.

This show is only part of the activities which will be available for amateur photographers of the Bay Area to see during the convention of the Photographic Society of America, August 13-18, at the Jack Tar Hotel in San Francisco.

Oakland Raider Veterans Report To Camp Today

Oakland Raider Head Coach Marty Feldman took time out from working the new rookie crop of footballers to issue a warning to his veterans due to report in today, July 18.

"Our vets better be in top shape and razor sharp in performance from the minute they step into camp or else they may find themselves with a long, hard road to travel to retain their spots on the club," Feldman warned.

"This rookie group that we have here is by far the best crop of first-year men we have had since we were organized three years ago," the head man continued. "We have speed and size here and most of these kids look like job-stealers to me."

Leading the veterans back into the Beach City camp will be All-American Football League center Jim Otto and All-Star game performers Alan Miller and Fred Williamson. Miller is a fullback and Williamson one of the top defensive halfbacks in the AFL.

Otto reported that while wintering at his home in Wausau, Wisc. he dropped 11 pounds (from 253 to 242) and considered himself in top form.

Other top performers returning include guard Wayne Hawkins, half back Charlie Fuller, fullback Clemon Daniels, defensive tackle Bob Voight, and ends Charley Hardy and Bob Coolbaugh.

PLANTING IRIS VARIETIES

In planting new Bearded Iris varieties from your nursery, try to avoid a site from which an older Iris planting has just been uprooted. These vigorous beauties have a way of rendering soil somewhat barren after several years. If you have only one bed for Iris, improve the soil by removing some of the old and replacing it with new soil and steer manure or compost from another part of the garden.

Pacifica Man Taps Out In Hardtop Race

A former champion cowboy of the Oklahoma circuit and now living in San Jose moved a step closer to his announced bid to win a championship in auto racing by taking over the point lead for NASCAR claiming stock cars last Friday night at Alviso Speedway.

Bud Owen has told his friends that he wants an auto race championship trophy to add to his big collection of rodeo awards. He has won two trophy dashes at Alviso thus far but has been unable to win a main event, taking second three times.

Friday night's second place, however, gave Owen the point leadership when the former leader, Ron McMillan, of Pacifica, was victim of engine trouble early in the feature race.

Adult Softball Loop Opens With 9 Teams

This week saw the start of the Adult Softball Twilight League. The league has several newcomers this year that hope to prove their mettle against veteran teams such as Daly City Drugs, South San Francisco Native Sons and the Daly City Billiards.

New to the league this year is St. Clair's Liquors. This team, composed of many of the coaches from San Francisco State, should prove to be quite strong. They will be relying on the arm of Bob Rodrigo, former football great from San Francisco State.

Also entering the league for the first time in Lee's Pharmacy, composed of many city employees such as Chuck Vincent, recreation director; Bill Chapman, city engineer, and Bill Howley, administrative assistant to the city manager.

Ye Olde Firehouse, Daly City's new pizza palace on Junipero Serra boulevard, is also entering a team, led by Rich Hackett, Paul Tapia, former star athlete from Jefferson High School, and pitcher Rich Watso. Jim Curtin is bringing in a seasoned aggregation for the Stumble Inn.

Rex Green Plumbing entered a team that has youth on its side, the oldest member being 21 years of age. Sanford Cleaners also promise to have a tough club with Carl Mitchell, former CCFS and semi-pro football star.

Teams will play games on Colma, Westlake and Marchbanks diamonds. Game time will be 6:15 p.m. The league will consist of a single round of play for the nine teams. The league will end on September 1.

Elementary School District To Hold Summer Open House

The Jefferson Elementary School District has invited parents, guardians and interested friends of summer school students to attend an evening of "open house" activities, to be held in the schools conducting the summer school program, on Thursday, July 19, from 7:30 to 9 p. m.

The largest summer school program ever conducted by the enrollment of 1,650 students in grades two through seven, utilizing the services of 64 teachers, principals John Belforte and James Thompson, and curriculum consultant Margery Yates.

Included in this year's offerings, along with the developmental - remedial program are the Core and Enrichment programs. The Core program is based on the broad theme of "space" and involves consideration of the many implications of the space age; e. g., scientific, psychological, sociological, cultural, etc. The Enrichment program includes the following 14 offerings:

Arithmetic analysis, arts and crafts, astronomy, choral music, creative writing, elementary anthropology, great literature, health and physical education, homemaking, home mechanics, music appreciation, space science, speed reading and the world of fish.

All classrooms in the six schools involved in summer school will be open to visitors so they may see some of what has been accomplished during this four-week period, talk with teachers, and observe the rooms.

The following schools will welcome visitors:

Benjamin Franklin, 700 Stewart avenue; Garden Village, 208 Garden lane; Thomas Edison, 1255 Southgate; Colma Upper, 601 Market; Colma K-6, 601 Market, and Woodrow Wilson, 33 Miriam.

S.F. Post Office Tabulates Votes

With more than 35,000 votes of postal employees to be tabulated, the largest count ever made in an employee organization representation election was started here last week. The employees are in the states of California, Nevada and Hawaii, which comprises the San Francisco region of the Post Office Department.

The San Francisco tallying operation is part of a nationwide count in the 15 regional offices of the Post Office Department in which 360,000 employees of the approximate 495,000 who were given ballots have voted, according to Raymond R. Holmquist, regional director.

The ballots—which are being handled with extreme care to insure the individual postal employee a completely secret ballot—list ten employee organizations seeking to represent one or more of the seven postal crafts. They include clerks, letter carriers, mail handlers, special delivery messengers, motor vehicle maintenance and drivers, maintenance and custodial employees, and rural carriers. There are also places on the ballot in which employees could write in the name of any other employee organization, or to vote for no organization, Holmquist pointed out.

Nationally, the check or count of ballots will be conducted under procedures developed with the technical assistance of William G. McGee, representing the National Labor Relations Board, to assure complete secrecy of ballots and an opportunity for each of the ten employee organizations to participate as observers.

Within the San Francisco postal region, extensive and unprecedented steps for the postal service are being taken to insure the secrecy and impartiality of the operation.

The tallying of votes will be supervised by Joseph A. Anderson, conciliator for the California Conciliation Service, Department of Industrial Relations, who is one of 15 agents —one in each postal region— selected for their knowledge of employee representation elections. He is paid for his services by the post office department.

Working in cooperation with Anderson are seven tally team leaders and four officials of the regional office. The tally team leaders are Mrs. Cleonise Chorley, of Daly City; James Roeckel, of Brisbane; Leonard Krauss, of Daly City; Brian McGrath, of San Francisco; Mrs. Dorothy Afadoma, of Oakland; Mrs. Mary De Barnabo, of San Leandro, and Mrs. Johanna Tracy, of Oakland.

Forming the regional office support personnel to the overall operation directed by Anderson are F. Ray Hogan, special assistant for employee-relations; Clarence Kongsle, postal inspector; James F. Lynch, regional controller, and C. J. O'Donnell, ballot sorting supervisor.

Final results of the elections are expected to be known about July 15—after which the participating organizations will be certified according to the degree of recognition, Holmquist said.

Lawrence Welk Show Tomorrow

The entire cast of the Lawrence Welk weekly television show and the bubbly music maestro's "Champagne Orchestra" will stage a two-and-a-half hour show Thursday night at the San Francisco Civic Auditorium, starting at 8:30 o'clock.

Jo Ann Castle

Led by the famed band leader, the versatile troupe of 40 entertainers will arrive via charter plane Thursday afternoon at the San Francisco International Airport. The limited one-night northern California engagement will be presented following record-breaking shows at Nevada's south shore, the Seattle World's Fair and in Portland.

Backing up the "bubble music" will be such Welk favorites as Larry Hooper, the band's deep voice and pianist; the Lennon sisters trio; Myron Floren, accordionist; Aladdin, violinist; Jo Ann Castle, honkytonk pianist and accordionist; Buddy Hayes, featured bass fiddle player; Jerry Burke, organist, and Barbara Boylan and Bobby Burgess, the new dance team sensation.

Sharing feature billing with the great Lennon sisters will be Norma Zimmer, who has gained instant acclaim as Welk's "Champagne Lady."

Hooper, like the Lennon sisters and Miss Zimmer, is typical of the famous a-one, a-two orchestra leader's constant development of stars in his band and on his show. He started with Welk as a pianist in 1948, and three years later recorded "Oh Happy Day," a half-million hit record.

Tickets for the show are on sale at the Crane box office, 245 Powell street (DO 2-4566), San Francisco.

Safety Signs Help Traffic

Modern traffic has its hazards.

In spite of all the advances that have been made in highway engineering and all the reforms that have been worked into the routing of cars on our city streets, modern traffic still has a great number of danger points, a great number of places where things can go wrong.

In an attempt to lessen these hazards, safety engineers have spent considerable time and effort in placing signs around that will serve to warn motorists when they are approaching the danger points.

You've seen these signs, of course: "Slow," "Curve Ahead," "Slippery When Wet," "Dangerous Grade," "Railroad Crossing."

Almost everywhere you go on our streets and highways you will find these warnings posted.

These are valuable warnings, points out the National Automobile Club, warnings that may very well save you from broken bones or from sudden death. Watch for these warnings. Read them and heed them. By doing so you will help to keep yourself safe.

top of the hill

By ARTEMUS BIERCE

The ominous clouds rubbed against each other in the dim sky as the sun tried futilely to push its incandescent rays through.

The three men at the Recreation Department offices at 144 Hillside boulevard buttoned up their overcoats and readied for the heartbreaking task which lay before them. Recreation director Chuck Vincent strolled out of the office, followed by robust Ed Tomasello and youthful Bob Blevins.

Outside the victim sat in its gray coat, shivering against the wintery July sky. Soon the ordeal would be over.

The three men walked outside, talking in low tones as they advanced towards the victim. A brittle breeze eddied around their feet for a second and then took off up the hill carrying their hushed voices with it.

The victim looked forlorn, old—ready for its forecasted fate. The three men stopped briefly, trying to figure out who would be the executioner

Vincent, the superior of the trio, dismissed himself as being too kind-hearted a guy. Blevins was next to speak, arguing that he was too young. That left Ed Tomasello. The bespectacled, kindly man looked affectionately at the victim, and at the same time scornfully fingered the weapon of execution.

For three years the victim had been his compadre. Before that, the victim had been a respected member of the Daly City Police Department. Now he had reached the end of the trail, outlived his usefulness.

On this dim July morn he was to be executed, even though he was endeared to the heart of the Recreation Department.

Tomasello strolled over to the victim, pulled out the weapon and leveled it at the head. The tears welled in Tomasello's eyes as he remembered the good times the two had enjoyed together. He placed his left hand over his eyes and the shot resounded through the foggy morning air.

The victim lifted up for a second, belched out a cloud of thick gray smoke, and they lay still. The execution of the once-famous "Gray Ghost" was completed. Its life drained out into a pool of oil at Ed's feet.

The "Gray Ghost" came to Daly City, spanking new, in 1957. He was the swiftest and most feared member of the Daly City Police Department. After several years of service, he lost his youthful agility and vigor, and like an old racehorse who is turned out to the fair circuit, he was turned over to the Recreation Department.

The "Gray Ghost" was a 1957 Chevrolet sedan which gained its name by the fact that it was gray in color and that it emitted huge clouds of gray smoke everywhere it went.

As the story goes, Vincent could always keep a watchful eye on Tomasello, even when the latter was out of the office. He would gaze out the window of the second-story Recreation offices and look for a gray puff of smoke rising in the distance. That was the old "Gray Ghost" . . . now just a memory.

While the Recreation Department is still fresh in our mind, we thought we would pass along this small incident:

Last week a rather distraught female traipsed into Tomasello's office and was on the brink of tears.

The girl said that she was going to be married the next week and threw Tomasello into a state of confusion over her tears.

"You should be very happy," said the Rec. Supervisor.

"I am," sniffled the young beauty, "but my fiance is upset because his softball team plays an important game while we are on our honeymoon and he doesn't want to miss it."

Tomasello, sensing the seriousness of the situation, suggested that the two lovers take the entire team on the honeymoon. But that idea was quickly discounted as being too expensive.

The only alternative was for Tomasello to reschedule the game for another date, which he did, and that famed old adage "Love prevails over softball" came true once again.

The Pacifica Police Department has been faced with a little problem of late. It seems that one of their three police cars, investigating a suspicious car, ran into a utility pole. The patrolman, El Ulrich, suffered minor hurts. The big problem is not a patrolman on sick leave, but lack of automotive power.

The other day, while both cars were out on call they had to transport a woman prisoner to the County Jail in a private vehicle.

Maybe they should go to the junkies and reclaim the "Gray Ghost."

CSM Lists Test Dates

On Saturday, July 21, College of San Mateo placement tests will be offered for the last time to qualify students for early counseling apointments. Tests taken after that date will apply only to the general registration days.

On July 21, the English Placement will be given from 8 a.m. and the Aptitude Test from 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., both in the Men's gym at Coyote Point.

On the same day, at 2 p.m., students will have the opportunity to take the Mathematics Placement, required of students wishing to enroll in the first calculus course (Math 30). A satisfactory score in the Math Placement plus seven semesters of high school level math with grades of "C" or better are prerequisites for enrollment in Math 30.

Since regulations for placement apply to both day and evening students, those planning to enroll in the first course in calculus or in English sections in the evening college are also urged to take the necessary tests on July 21.

Other July dates, for testing prior to general registration for the fall semester include:

Tuesday, July 24, English Placement at 7 p.m.

Thursday, July 26, Aptitude Test at 7 p.m.

For all test sessions, students are required to report in advance of the starting time. Since all tests are timed, latecomers may not begin until another test date.

All students planning to enroll at College of San Mateo for the first time must take the placement examinations as part of the admission requirement. The completed application form, transcripts of high school and college work, and polio immunization record must also be on file prior to admission. Additional information may be obtained from the Registrar's Office, Coyote Point.

Karyn Williams Graduates From Nursing School

Miss Karyn Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dale Williams of Daly City, will be graduated from St. Luke's Hospital School of Nursing in San Francisco, Friday, July 27.

Graduation exercises will be held in the courtyard of the hospital with a reception at the Nurses Residence.

Miss Williams is a graduate of the 1959 class at Westmoor High School and has been studying at the San Francisco school, which is affiliated with the Episcopal church, for the past three years. She is the recipient of a scholarship under the Army Student Nurse Program.

S. F. State Selects Jefferson Teacher For Special Work

Miss Janet A. Johnson, business instructor at Jefferson High School in Daly City, has been selected by San Francisco State College to participate in a special work experience program offered during the summer session.

Arrangements for the unique program of teacher participation in office and retail sales experience were made by Dr. Russell Sickelbower and Dr. John H. Linn, both associate professors of business at San Francisco State College.

This opportunity to perform the varied duties in modern business establishments is combined with evening classes at San Francisco State. The evening sessions offer further opportunities to hear business executives discuss how work experience may be related to the school and the classroom activities of the teacher.

Miss Johnson, of Daly City, is one of the 30 business teachers from over the nation who are active in the program and is employed by Pacific Gas and Electric Company in San Francisco.

THIS INTENT group of children is watching members of an old fashioned brass band which played patriotic melodies the evening of July 3rd at the Alec Membership Shopping Center in Colma. The bands appearance was part of the Independence Day celebration at Alec which included distribution of free American Flags for children and a series of special sales in many of the departments at Alec.

Daly City Bell Tones; A New Civic Activity

Daly City residents who like to sing or have had some choral experience will be happy to learn that the "Belle-Tones" recently publicized in The Record and Westlake Times have become a civic activity.

Charles Vincent, director of recreation, announced this week that the Belle-Tones will be cosponsored by his department.

An invitation to Daly City residents with an interest in joining the Belle-Tones has been extended by Mrs. Patti Stolz, director. Since the group performs for clubs and organizations, and candidates must have some musical background, auditions will be held privately. As the name indicates, only women singers are active in the group.

The Belle-Tones have appeared several times in this area since their organiation in November, 1961. Audiences have been most appreciative and interested in this activity.

It is the hope of the Belle-Tones and the recreation department that under the city's sponsorship we might develop a nucleus for a Daly City municipal chorus, said Mrs. Stolz.

"We have had a wonderful time seeing Belle-Tones develop to where we are today. Nothing would make us happier than to think we have been able to add an activity with such potential to the city's growing interest," she added.

An experienced soloist and choral director, Mrs. Stolz and her choral group have appeared at the M. Pauline Brown and Crocker-Pershing PTA units, and together with the South San Francisco Mothersingers entertained delegates to the 35th annual convention of the 17th district C. C. P.T. in a concert last March.

Besides directing this chorus, Mrs. Stolz is a soloist at Hamilton Methodist Church, 1525 Waller street, San Francisco. In addition, she has been elected 17th district music chairman for the California Congress of Parents and Teachers, and will direct the South San Francisco Mothersingers, effective next September.

"Rehearsals are friendly and informative. We try to take in good voices and teach them to read choral music, and our repertoire is very entertaining. We are already working on our fall appearances and welcome new members," Mrs. Stolz stated.

Summer rehearsals are every other Wednesday afternoon from 1 to 3 p. m. at George Washington school. Starting in September, a new schedule will be announced.

If your vocal chords need dusting off, or your program chairman is in need of entertainment for your club, phone PL 5-0850, extension 18. You'll be glad you did.

Museum Exhibit Changes Phase

The first change in the massive "Arts of San Francisco" exhibition at the San Francisco Museum of Art brings a new collection of works in all galleries this month.

Planned in three distinct phases to present a comprehensive display of the many facets of Bay Area creative activity, the summer-long show offers new exhibits for its second phase in practically every category: painting, sculpture, photography, metal arts, pottery, handweaving, architecture, graphic and design crafts, printmaking and landscape architecture.

Juvenile Crime Rises Slightly

A total of 189,424 juveniles, youths under 18 years of age, were arrested in California during 1961 for delinquent or criminal activities, the Bureau of Criminal Statistics reported last week to Attorney General Stanley Mosk.

The bureau, an agency of the State Department of Justice, disclosed that this total was 6,709 more juvenile arrests than in 1960.

The statistics show that of the total of 189,424 arrests, 59,689 youngsters were detained by police while 129,735 were not detained, reported Bureau Chief Fred A. Knoles of Sacramento.

Based on population the delinquency arrest rate shows 1,151.9 arrests per 100,000 population. The rate in 1960—with approximately 500,000 fewer residents—was 1,152 per 100,000.

The 1961 statistics disclosed that serious or felony type crimes were 5.1 per cent below the 1960 period.

The largest decrease in 1961 was shown in homicide committed by juveniles with a 28 per cent drop from the previous year's 111 to the 1961 figure of 82. This was almost offset by the increase in forcible rape by 25 per cent in 1961 over 1960 — 321 arrests last year to 254 in 1960. Aggravated assault was up 3.7 per cent, 1,853 in 1961 over 1,729 in 1960.

Arrests for burglary, the largest single category, totaled 16,871 in comparison with 16,579 in 1960, or a 1.8 per cent drop, in consideration of population increase. In 1961, of all burglary arrests, 41.2 per cent were juveniles. Auto theft by juveniles took an 8.4 per cent drop in 1961, with 9,863 arrests in comparison with 10,385 arrests in 1960.

Narcotic arrests in 1961 totaled 1,276 — a decrease of 8.2 per cent — in comparison with 1960's 1,345.

Minor offenses, in a separate category, totaled 43,616 arrests, the largest figure being in petty theft — 31,080. In this general category drunk driving accounted for 308 juvenile arrests, but related to the 339 in 1960, showed a 9.5 per cent decline.

Delinquent tendencies arrests in 1961 were 112,773, of which 88,736 were boys and 24,037 were girls. This category includes minor offenses.

White Sands—A Most Unusual Playground

Down in the southern part of New Mexico, along the bottom of the Tularosa Valley, is one of our most unusual playgrounds: the White Sands National Monument.

The monument, according to the National Automobile Club, is composed of some 140,000 acres set aside in some 500 square miles of rolling white dunes that Nature has been piling up in this area through the long ages.

Headquarters for the monument is located on the north side of U.S. Highway 70, just 15 miles from Alamogordo and 54 miles from Las Cruces.

The Park Service has built nine miles of road that takes you from the headquarters right into the heart of the dunes. Once you get there you see great rolling dunes, some 30 to 60 feet high, glistening white like pure sugar or salt and stretching out as far as the eye can see.

Driven by the wind, the dunes are moving slowly towards Alamogordo. This, however, worries neither the Park Service nor the residents of Alamogordo for at the present rate of eight inches per year the dunes should reach that town in about 120,000 years!

The dunes are formed of tiny particles of pure gypsum, the material manufacturers use to make such items as fireproof walls and plaster of Paris. Nature supplied all this by having her rains and her melting snows wash gypsum down from the surrounding hills and her ground waters carry gypsum up from below the surface of the valley by capillary action. This process has been going on for countless centuries and is still going on today.

As you might guess, the vegetation in White Sands National Monument isn't exactly tropical. Within the confines of the monument, however, they do have more than 60 species of plants. None of these grow atop the highest dunes, but some of them have "ridden" the smaller dunes by sending down roots that are about 40 feet long. The dunes have passed by many of these plants and left them oddly isolated with their long, long roots.

Animals live there too. While walking over the firm surface of the dunes, you can from time to time catch glimpses of jack rabbits, foxes, white lizards, coyotes, white mice, and badgers.

For those who want to visit this most unusual national monument, accommodations are available both at Alamogordo and Las Cruces. It's a sight you'll long remember, this sea of dunes gleaming white in the bright sun of New Mexico.

Mosk Rules On Word Meaning

The word "immediately" in relation to a preliminary hearing before a judge means "as soon as practicable," ruled Attorney General Stanley Mosk last week.

"Penal Code Section 860 contemplates that after the appearance of counsel (or if none appears, after an appropriate period), the magistrate shall require the preliminary hearing to be held as soon as practicable, having due regard to the nature and circumstances of the particular cases," states the attorney general's opinion. "This will sometimes be on a date later than the date on which the defendant is brought before the court."

Delay may be caused by insufficient time to subpoena a witness who may reside a considerable distance from the scene of the hearing, especially if he is the victim of a crime of violence. The court's calendar may be crowded to prevent instantaneous hearing, or defense counsel may not be sufficiently familiar with the case.

Request for the opinion was made by District Attorney William B. McKesson of Los Angeles County. The ruling was prepared by Deputy Attorney General Norman H. Sokolow of Los Angeles.

Dept. Can't Regulate Alcohol Possession

Possession of alcoholic beverages on the permises of Natural Bridges and Twin Lakes Beach State Parks in Santa Cruz may not be regulated by the Department of Parks and Recreation, ruled Attorney General Stanley Mosk recently. The department may, however, regulate the consumption of alcoholic beverages within the two State parks.

The ordinance of the City of Santa Cruz, within which area the State park lands beaches are situated, prohibiting the consumption of alcoholic beverages, is effective, further states the opinion. However, an ordinance regulating possession is in conflict with the state law and is invalid. Peace officers of the city may apprehend persons on State park lands within the city in enforcing violations of its statutes.

The director of the department may permit the City of Santa Cruz to post signs on State park lands within the city limits pertaining to regulations concerning consumption of alcoholic beverages.

The Legislature has enacted statutes prohibiting possession of alcoholic beverages by minors, and on school property, in bottle clubs or without license for transportation, storing or sale. It has not enacted legislation on possession within State parks, nor delegated that power to the State Park System, the ruling declares.

"On the other hand, neither the Legislature nor the Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control is given exclusive power to regulate the consumption of alcoholic beverages, except in connection with licensed premises," states the opinion.

Request for the opinion was made by Charles A. DeTurk, Director of Parks and Recreation. The ruling was prepared by Deputy Attorney General John M. Morrison of Sacramento.

A translator television installation by a public utility district is authorized under the Public Utilities Code, ruled Attorney General Stanley Mosk last week.

District Attorney N. Edward Denton of Mono County, on the Nevada-California border, requested a ruling on Mono County's rights to re-broadcast television programs to serve the residents of the district.

The code authorizes recreational facilities and buildings, among other structures for public purposes, to be constructed and operated by utility districts.

The ruling cites an opinion of the California Supreme Court in 1903 authorizing an iron fence as a "public building." In another ruling "structures" and "buildings" are defined as synonymous. A dugout, a sandhopper, an artifical cave, a spur track and a railroad car, have been qualified by various courts as "buildings."

"Any municipal corporation may establish and operate public works for supplying its inhabitants with light, water, power, heat, transportation, telephone service or other means of communication," states the Public Utilities Code. "Communication" has been defined, states the opinion as meaning "intelligence, news, that it communicated or imparted, a written or verbal message" and is not restricted to mere words.

"That television is a means of mass communication fully within the broad definition can hardly be controverted," states the opinion. "Nor does it seem disputable that a translator television installation, which receives and rebroadcasts a television signal, is a work for supplying the inhabitants of the district with such a means of mass communications within the meaning of section 16461 (Public Utilities Code)."

The opinion declared that such a public utility "need not be operated on a self-sustaining, revenue producing basis."

The opinion was prepared by Deputy Attorney General Hubert O. Bower of Sacramento.

Commissioner Can Subpoena Records

The Savings and Loan Commissioner has the power to subpoena records of both state and federal savings and loan associations whether or not they intend to appear as objectors at an application hearing, ruled Attorney General Stanley Mosk last week.

"The commissioner cannot stop objectors from testifying because of their failure to produce subpoenaed documents; rather he must have recourse to the judicial remedies provided by the Financial Code."

The Savings and Loan Commissioner has "clearly the proper function" to investigate the status of accounts of existing State associations to aid in determining whether or not a new association should be licensed, the opinion declares.

Although federal savings and loan associations are exempt from the statutory definition of "saving and loan associations," subpoena power is granted by section 5253 (Financial Code) to subpoena "other witnesses" the Commissioner deems necessary.

Thus he is given the statutory authority to subpoena the records of federal associations," states the ruling.

State courts have no power to interfere ewith the internal affairs of a fereral association. The ruling declares that requiring fereral associations to submit records would not hinder the uniform operation of federal associations.

A subpoenatd association may appear without subpoenaed documents and be heard. If an association refuses to produce subpoenaed documents, the Commissioner is empowered to seek relief from the courts to obtain a judicial interpretation under section 5254 of the Financial Code. A hearing may be continued or postponed pending the court's determination.

Request for the opinion from Preston L. Silbaugh, Savings and Loan Commissioner. Deputy Attorney General Robert E. Murphy of San Francisco prepared the ruling.

Society To Hold Garden Tour

The El Camino Fuchsia Society branch of the American Fuchsia Society will hold a garden tour Sunday, July 22. The public is invited and there is no admission charge.

The following gardens will be open from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Love, 513 Linden avenue, San Bruno.

Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Price, 1511 Crestwood, San Bruno.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kohlman, 125 Santa Dominga, San Bruno.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kusber, 60 Werner avenue, Daly City.

STEEL AND OIL

The oil industry uses some nine and one-half tons of steel for every 1,000 feet of hole drilled, according to the National Automobile Club.

San Francisco Bay lies in a long valley extending for 90 miles between two subterranean faults.

Interest May Drop On Cal-Vet Loans

Notice of an interest rate cut on Cal-Vet loans will be mailed out on August 1 after all state procedures are complete.

San Mateo County Veterans' Service Officer Floyd D. Granger explained last week that the California Veterans Board has recommended a reduction of one-quarter of one per cent in the Cal-Vet loan rates, and that the reduction must be approved by the Veterans Finance Committee. If approved, the rate will drop from 4 to 3¾%.

Once this is done, all contract holders will get notice of the cut, with interest rate changes becoming effective 90 days after the notices are mailed.

Providing notices are sent out on August 1, said Granger, the current change will become effective November 1. He points out that the reduction won't reduce monthly payments but will shorten the term of the contracts.

For further information, Granger advises contract holders and others to contact him at the San Mateo County office at the Courthouse in Redwood City, California, or the Farm and Home Purchases District Office at 350 McAllister street in San Francisco.

Real Estate Health Rises In SM County

A basic barometer of business health, the volume of real estate transactions, rose 16 percent during the month of May in San Mateo County, it was reported by Conrad W. Carpenter, executive vice president, of U. S. Title and Guaranty Company.

The local increase compares favorably with a general four percent rise in real estate documents recorded during May in 23 metropolitain counties surveyed from Florida to California by Stewart Title Guaranty Company of Houston, national underwriter for the Redwood City firm.

San Mateo County Fair To Begin Aug. 3

The 28th annual San Mateo County Fair and Floral Fiesta, on August 3 will combine an agricultural-livestock fair, science and industry show and one of the finest flower and garden expositions to be seen anywhere.

The original show from which today's Fair and Fiesta has developed actually was held 35 years ago as a neighborhood flower exhibit in the old San Mateo Junior College auditorium.. This year's event will be staged on the modern 48-acre Fairgrounds adjoining Bay Meadows race track in San Mateo. The growth of the Fair through the years is an interesting reflection of the atmosphere, attitudes and development of San Mateo County.

Little Industry

In 1928, when a few good ladies of San Mateo and a number of commercial flower pioneers organized the first show, industry was an almost undreamed of element in the area's economy. The County's population was either rural or residential, with only enough commerce to service the needs of the small, quiet communities that dotted the shores of the Bay and the Coastside.

These elements have remained, and they continue to be represented at the Fair and Fiesta, in the lush floral exhibits that have completely taken over the huge Fiesta Building, the extensive home arts and agricultural displays, tables of cakes, cookies and pies, and canned goods from apples to pickled zucchini.

But the post war industrial boom in the Bay Area changed both the face—and the mood—of San Mateo County. No longer a "bedroom county" for San Francisco commuters, the Bayside undertook a positive program to meet the economic and industrial needs of its communities, and soon manufacturing and distributing firms began locating along the Bay—many of them vitally involved in space-age development.

Plant Expansion

Due to organized effort on the part of individual communities and industrial development associations, since 1955 more than 800 new plants and expansions with an estimated capitalization of over $150,000,000 have been added to the county — a record second to none in the nation for an area of this size.

The growth of the Fair and Fiesta has been equally phenominal, and its expansion has mirrored the change in the face of the county.

By 1938, the Fiesta had added commercial exhibits to the competition, and became associated with the California fairs program under the division of fairs and expositions. With funds from horse racing aiding expansion, and a county-appointed fiesta commission, the fair was placed on a fully organized, yearly basis.

Attendance and participation increased greatly, encompassing the coastside's agriculture and commercial floral production, until 1941 when World War II suddenly brought all festivities to a halt.

Swift Recovery

Recovery was swift after the war, and by 1948 the fair association purchased 25 acres of land from the California Jockey Club and the first building was constructed. All departments of the fair were located in the Fiesta building that year even though it was still unfinished, and wood shavings covered the floor.

Since 1948, the addition of buildings and equipment, and the improvements in the fairgrounds have amounted to a combined state and county investment of $1,570,504.02.

A community exhibit building, the Fiesta Bowl and the agricultural building were constructed in 1952. And by 1957 a junior livestock building was completed and a modern administration building replaced the old ranch house built in 1920 by the original owners of the property, who had operated a dairy in the area.

By this time, the substantial change in the area's economy and the growth of population (which has increased 85 per cent in the past ten years and is expected to pass 625,000 before 1970) were being reflected in the Fiesta.

At a cost of a half million dollars, the twin industrial building was constructed in 1960 and was used that year to house the already large science and industry show even though the building was not quite completed.

Industrial Show

And the end is not in sight. Fair Manager William M. Wilson has proposed a new construction and major maintenance program for the next six years that will add 1,000 new grandstand seats and an all-weather cover to the Fiesta Bowl theater area, enlarge the restaurant facilities, add washrooms, a corporation yard and maintenance building and provide a heating plant for one wing of the twin industry building.

Last year the second industrial show proved one of the most popular exhibit areas at the fairgrounds, closely rivaling the famed floral displays that reach to the rafters of the three-story Fiesta building.

This year a full-scale 80 foot Thor-Agena missile-satellite will share the spotlight with space-age oriented exhibits by Lenkurt Electric, Pacific Telephone, United Airlines and a host of other San Mateo County industrial leaders.

Livestock Show

The addition of the industrial show, the carnival and fun zone, more flower exhibits and glamorous gardens, and a growing number of fat lambs, canned persimmons and angel food cakes have necessitated the growth of the Fiesta staff to a hard-working crew of 80 during fair time.

The junior livestock show has grown from 32 exhibitors in 1953 to more than 800 for this year's show. Much of the credit for this expansion goes to Robert Ward, 4-H farm advisor, and William Duncan of Menlo Park, who serves as chairman of the junior livestock show's annual 4-H auction, one of the most popular events of the fair.

Wilson said it takes from 6,000 to 7,000 exhibitors to make up the Fiesta.

He points out that agriculture and floriculture will continue to be important parts of the fair, since San Mateo County's coastside continues to be primarily a rural region.

But the Fiesta has become more sophisticated in the presentation of its yearly show—due to the basic cultural changes of the area. Entertainment in the Fiesta Bowl will feature top names, like the Kirby Stone Four and the Sylte Sisters, equal to anything offered at metropolitan nightclubs. Backing up the headliners in the twice-daily shows will be magicians Boxley and Marie, Bozo the Clown, the Nob Hill Trio and Phil Bovero and his orchestra.

Actually, the fair and fiesta, like the county, it mirrors so well, in changing with the times has preserved the best in the county's heritage while adding what is important to the area today — it is a record of our past, a presentation of our present and a promise for our future.

NEW BEN FRANKLIN VARIETY STORE WILL BE CONSTRUCTED IN ST. FRANCIS SQUARE CENTER

A new Ben Franklin store, which will be the most modern and completely equipped variety store in the Daly City area, will be built at St. Francis boulevard and Southgate avenue in the St. Francis Square Shopping Center, it was announced this week.

The new location was selected by Butler Brothers, nationwide merchandising organization, which franchises Ben Franklin stores to independent owner-operators. It is planned that the store will be opened in November of this year. The center is owned by the Barton Development Company.

The entire building will be built to Butler Brothers specifications for a completely air-conditioned, self-service store which will offer a complete line of variety merchandise. Counter displays designed to add to the ease and convenience of shopping will feature jewelry, lingerie, infants' wear, dry goods, notions, men's and boys' wear, housewear, hardware and electrical goods, glassware, stationery, toiletries, toys, novelties and candy.

Plans for the St. Francis Square Center include a parking area to hold 147 automobiles, a Safeway store (already completed) and other tenants. The modern Ben Franklin store will be variety merchandise headquarters in the center.

Butler Brothers, with headquarters in Chicago, has a major merchandise distribution center nearby. Headquarters provides central buying, promotion, and management serices for all stores in the Ben Franklin network. This national distribution through seven similar centers enables independent businessmen to offer more than 14,000 items of quality merchandise at lower prices.

The new store's owner-operator is expected to be announced soon. Butler Brothers receives hundreds of requests for Ben Franklin franchises each year. While previous retail experience is desirable, successful Ben Franklin store owners also include school teachers, salesmen, accountants, mechanics, and men from many other fields and professions.

In some instances, an investor supplies the capital and an experienced variety store manager eventually acquires the store through profit sharing.

The company's unusual program has been one of the most successful in American business. More than 600 modern new Ben Franklin stores have been opened in new shopping centers and other convenient locations in the past five years, an average of over two new stores a week, year after year. This is one of the highest rates of growth in any retail field.

In addition, Ben Franklin stores' yearly sales increase has been far above average for retail stores, according to a recent survey. To attain such success by winning shoppers' approval of their merchandise quality and values, well qualified local men who own and operate individual stores are assisted by the Butler Brothers organization of veteran buyers and store operating specialists.

The basic ideas of the program are coordination of buying power so that each local store can offer the best values from the country's leading manufacturers, and individual operation of each store to meet the needs of its community.

To select the wide assortment of variety merchandise suitable for modern families, Butler Brothers' professional buyers interview more than 10,000 salesmen a year and visit 2,500 sales offices and manufacturing plants. On the average, buyers examine 20 new products for every one they accept, putting every product through many varied tests.

The company's retail store operating specialists visit every Ben Franklin store on a regular schedule. These specialists assist the owner with his management duties and to help him keep abreast of the latest trends in modern merchandise to better anticipate and meet the needs of the families his store serves.

Origins Of Auto Engine Go Back To Year 1678

The internal combustion engine, so familiar to us all in the automobile, had its remote beginnings in Europe almost three centuries ago.

Back in 1678, according to the National Automobile Club, a French priest by the name of Jean de Hautefeuille started it all by proposing that they could pump water for the basins in the park at Versailles by placing a piston in a cylinder and driving the piston through the cylinder by exploding some gunpowder under it. Christian Huygens, a Netherlander living in Paris at the time, took this idea and realized it in an engine that he built.

Huygens, however, had an assistant by the name of Dionysius Papin who was given the chore of cleaning the burnt gases from the cylinder and sought to make this chore easier by introducing steam into the cylinder and letting the steam contract to create a vacuum and pull the piston down.

This was the principle that Thomas Newcomen was to use in England when he built so many engines for pumping water in the first half of the 18th century. And this was the principle with which James Watt was to quarrel near the end of the century, pointing out and practicing the principle that it was better to use the pressure of steam than the contraction of steam to drive a piston in a cylinder.

Gasoline began to enter the picture in 1860, when Jean Joseph Etienne Lenoir of Luxembourg built a successful hydrocarbon engine and, with the assistance of Alphonse Beau de Rochas and a man named Schmidt, went on to perfect the operations in the cylinder so that they followed the important cycle of intake, compression, explosion and exhaust. With one of these engines, he drove a road vehicle in 1862. Five years later, over in Germany, Nicholas August Otto invented a four-cycle engine run on illuminating gas, Gottlieb Daimler came along to make this engine run on gasoline in 1855, and Karl Benz set this engine on a three-wheel vehicle that was the first vehicle to be powered by gasoline.

In America, George Brayton came up with a two-cycle engine powered by gasoline in 1874 and the Duryea brothers and Henry Ford made their historic models in the 1890's.

Fallout Shelter Surveys Continue

Three significant aspects of Plase II of the National Fallout Shelter Survey, Marketing and Stocking program, now underway, were announced last week by the California Disaster Office.

According to CDO director Allan K. Jonas, architect-engineer teams doing the survey work under the direction of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and the Navy's Bureau of Yards and Docks will do these things apart from the normal aspects of the Phase II survey, in which buildings will be marked and stocked:

(1) Undertake engineering case studies for a limited number of schools, hospitals, welfare institutions and commercial buildings;

(2) Survey certain AM and FM commercial broadcasting stations for fallout protection; and

(3) Make a sampling survey of existing telephone capability in potential shelters in Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Jonas said the Phase II survey, in which studies of space, habitability and other factors will be made in buildings deemed suitable as shelters in Phase I of the survey, will include surveying key civil defense alerting stations in California. There are 16 such stations on the NAWAS (National Warning System) setup.

Cost of the normal Phase II survey in California, in which 38 architect-engineer teams are participating, will be $1,035,208, Jonas said.

Over 1½ Billion For State Schools

California school districts spent $1,616,960,000 — an average of about $455 per pupil — to operate elementary schools, high schools and junior colleges during the 1960-61 fiscal year.

State controller Alan Cranston said figures contained in the annual report on school district financial transactions, recently published by his office, indicate that the average expenditure per pupil increased approximately $15 from the previous year.

The controller noted that while the total general fund expenditures were 9.6 per cent greater than in 1959-60, the districts' general fund income of $1,633,572,000 was up ten per cent. The average daily attendance was 3,553,679, a growth of six per cent.

General fund expenditures encompass salaries, miscellaneous costs of instruction, operation and maintenance of school plants, pupil transportation, administration, capital outlay and various fixed charges. Not included are expenditures from building funds, bond funds, child care center funds and cafeteria funds.

There was an anticipated decrease in the number of school districts, Cranston explained. The report lists 1,703, compared with 1,734 the previous year.

"This is in keeping with the trend of consolidation where it is possible and reasonable to achieve a maximum of economy without detracting from efficiency and service," he said.

The report contains detailed discal information on 1,316 elementary districts, 223 high school districts, 127 unified districts and 37 junior college districts. Unified districts increased by nine, junior college districts by seven. There were 44 fewer elementary districts and three high school districts were dissolved.

Cranston noted that the districts derived 54.7 per cent of their income from district taxes and 40.5 per cent from the apportionment of state funds. Only 2.6 per cent come from federal subventions and the balance came from miscellaneous sources.

Comedy To Open At Little Theatre

The West Coast premiere of Edward Albee's newest comedy hit, "The American Dream," is scheduled by Peninsula Little Theatre for Sunday Night, July 22, at 7:30 at Hillbarn Theatre, Ralston and Alameda, Belmont.

Albee, an American angry young man, whose short plays, "The Zoo Story" and "The Sand Box," won his instant acclaim, is now working on a full-length Broadway production for next fall, "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?"

"The American Dream," which ran over a year in New York, has been described by the New Yorker as "a play for the resilient young and the wise old. All those paunchy sluggish targets in between had best stay away." Albee himself calls it "a stand against the fiction that everything in this slipping land of ours is peacky-keen."

Betty Tartaul and Arline St. Clair, two of Hillbarn's experienced comediennes are joined by Mari Lyn Henry, from San Jose State, as Mommy, Mrs. Barker, and Grandma, respectively. Daddy and the Young Man are played by James McClellan, from "The Perils of Lurity" cast, and Douglas Spitz, from Hillsdale High.

Elizabeth Hardy Petty and Robert Brauns, assisted by John Nordby, will present an experimental after-piece to follow coffee intermission.

The altra-modern evening will be repeated Sundays at 7:30 through July and August with an occasional change in programming, but "all guaranteed sensibly Surrealistic," according to Robert Brauns, director.

Broadmoor Youths Attend Church Sponsored Camp

A number of the young people of the Broadmoor Presbyterian Church, 377-87th street, are attending church-sponsored camps this summer.

Those attending are as follows: Junior camps at Westminster Woods—Robert Anderson, July 8-14; Reed Hargrove, July 22-28; Christine Dethlefsen and Debbie Sealund, July 22-28; Cathy Meade and Elaine Chiosso, August 19-25.

Junior high: Nancy Dethlefsen, Phyllis Chiosso and Susan Frisch, July 22-28 at Valley of the Moon. Miner camp: Paula Baumgartner and Debbie Leech, August 5-11 at Valley of the Moon.

The Presbyterian camp grounds at Wesminster Woods is located near Occidental, and the Valley of the Moon camp is located near Sonoma. The Rev. Herbert Tweedie, pastor of the local church, will be director of the Junior high camp, July 22-28 at Valley of the Moon.

The summer service of the local congregation is held at 10 a. m. during the summer months. The Sunday School meets during the service at the same hour, beginning with those of three years of age. Infant care is provided.

Congregation Judea Holds Early Service

Congregation Judea will hold its early Sabbath service this Friday, July 20, at 6 p. m. at Temple Judea, 95 South Mayfair avenue, Daly City.

Reuben Pinkus, member of Congregation Judea, will officiate at this service, which will last approximately one-half hour.

All are cordially invited to attend.

Area Red Cross Director Named

Howard Hoops, assistant director of disaster services for the Golden Gate chapter of the American Red Cross, has been named administrator of the new coastside office of the chapter, according to an announcement made by Ferdinand R. Stent, chairman of the board of directors.

"In anticipation of the tremendous growth in population foreseen in the future, Red Cross is preparing to open an office on the coastside after the first of July. We feel we can facilitate better service to the people of the coastwide area by establishing a local office," Stent stated.

The address of the new coastside region office will be 600 Palmetto avenue, Pacifica.

Hoops is a graduate of Washington State College with a degree in business administration. He served as an enlisted man in the Army for 35 months overseas in the 1943-45 campaigns in Australia, New Guinea and the Philippines.

He joined the Red Cross in 1954 and served as a field director at military installations stateside and overseas. Upon completion of his overseas tour of duty, he and his wife, Phyllis, traveled around the world visiting more than 40 countries.

He is presently a member of the Burlingame Lions Club and a charter member of the Las Vegas and Great Falls, Mont., Toastmasters International.

He and his wife are presently making their home in Menlo Park, but are planning to purchase a home on the coastside. Mrs. Hoops, a graduate of the University of California, is an eighth grade teacher at Terra Linda School in San Carlos.

Rummage Sale At St. Finn Barr's Church

The annual rummage sale will be held in the St. Finn parish hall, Hearst and Edna (off Monterey boulevard) on Friday and Saturday, August 10 and 11, commencing at 9 o'clock each day.

All proceeds will beenfit the new school and faculty house.

Mrs. Adolph Blumenthal is chairman of the event.

Hi-Fi Teen Club Holds Pizza Hop

The Hi Fi Teen Club members enjoyed a pizza sock hop at the War Memorial Community Center on Saturday, July 14. Dancing was from 8 to 11 p. m.

Highlight of the evening was the opening of "Sam's Pizza Palace." Sam Elmon, outstanding Jefferson High School athlete and student, attired in a chef's hat and apron, served pizza to all attending. Admission cost to the dance was charged in relation to the size of the dancers' feet.

The Teen Club council is planning several summer events for the members. Council members plan to meet next Monday evening with the South San Francisco Teen Club council to discuss teen problems, better relations between the youth of the two communities, and joint activities.

The Teen Club Council will also bid farewell to the council chairman, Walt Pickering, who will leave shortly for military service. Succeeding Pickering as council chairman will be Arlene Day, Jefferson High School student.

COOPERATE WITH TRAFFIC PATTERN

Always cooperate with the traffic pattern, advises the National Automobile Club.

Women Planning Rummage Sale

A rummage sale is being planned by Skyline Chapter B'nai B'rith Women for October 29, at the Hall of Flowers, San Francisco.

Persons wishing to donate usable merchandise should call Mrs. George Bloom, SE 1-1114; Mrs. Herbret Gross, MO 1-1353; Mrs. Gerald Turover, MO 4-5717; or Mrs. Leonard Wasserstein, PL 5-3130.

Native Sons And Daughters Hold Joint Meeting

La Paz Parlor, Native Daughters of the Golden West, and Pacifica Parlor, Native Sons of the Golden West, will hold a joint installation of officers on Saturday, July 28, at 8:30 p. m. in the Pedro Point fire house.

A buffet reception will follow.

The festivities are open by invitation only. This will be the first joint installation in San Mateo County in many years.

Felix Seidler, president-elect of Pacifica Parlor, and Mrs. Felix Seidler, president-elect of La Paz Parlor, expressed the hope that this will be the first of many joint endeavors of the two parlors during the coming year.

Increase In Bay Area Workers And Jobless

Both employment and unemployment in the Bay area increased in June, two state officials reported this week.

John F. Henning, director of the department of industrial relations, said that civilian employment in the San Francisco-Oakland metropolitan area rose to a June record of 1,168,800, up 12,600 or 1.1 per cent, from June 1961.

Between May and June, gains in manufacturing, government, trade, agriculture, and transportation-communications-utilities outweighed job losses in the construction industry which was affected by a trade dispute.

The greatest employment advances from June of last year were in services, up 8,100, and in government, up 6,700. Manufacturing and trade ranked third and fourth in adding jobs from a year ago with increases of 6,100 and 5,500, respectively. Construction employment this June was well under last year because of the work stoppage.

Henning said that government employment rose to an all-time high of 214,300 in June, and the finance-insurance-real estate group also reached a new record—81,100. Trade registered a June high of 263,400 and services was also at a June record—214,500.

Unemployment

Irving H. Peluss, director of the department of employment, announced that unemployment in the Bay area rose from 60,200 to 78,600 between May and June, reflecting the customary entry of summer jobseekers into the labor market and large numbers of workers temporarily unemployed as a result of the trade dispute in the construction industry.

This represented 4.9 per cent of the labor force in May and 6.3 per cent in June.

In June of last year, the jobless count had been 78,200 which was also 6.3 per cent of the labor force at that time.
